The Other Front

'Sound Militarily, but... Lousy Psychologically'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — South Vietnam's decision to surrender several provinces to the communists is "sound militarily but lousy psychologically," Pentagon analysts said today.

Shortage of supplies was cited by Washington — and surprisingly by Hanoi, too — as a cause of South Vietnam's huge territorial losses.

Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger said South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu had not consulted with the Americans before pulling back. Pentagon sources added, "We don't know exactly what he has in mind."

One official said, "This pullback took us all by surprise. But Thieu is a lieutenant general, and he earned those three stars before he got into politics. He's always been credited with being a sound general."

The analysts said that what they believe Thieu was doing "makes all kind of sense militarily. South Vietnam will then have shorter lines of defense and will no longer be saddled with a huge front, never knowing where the other side might attack at any time."

They said Thieu could now create a strategic reserve. He has lacked that military essential because of his need to defend so

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist gunners slammed artillery and rocket fire into the old imperial capital of Hue today and government troops blew up a key bridge outside the city 400 miles north of Saigon to slow down North Vietnamese tanks and troops menacing the evacuation.

Bloodied soldiers and weary women, shoeless old men and mudstained children trudged along South Vietnam's winding roads in a terrified exodus from a third of the country's provinces.

The South Vietnamese government evacuated or began pulling out of 11 provinces. Panicky civilians fled on their own from three others.

Field military reports said government marines screening the evacuation of Hue's 300,000 inhabitants destroyed a vital bridge over the My Chanh river on Highway 14, 21 miles north of Hue, in their rearguard action to buy time for refugees streaming southward.

Communist gunners lobbed 30 rounds of artillery and rocket fire into Hue city, its suburban airport, and the headquarters of the 1st Infantry Division. No casualties were reported.

Highway 1, which runs 50 road miles from Hue to Da Nang was packed solid with vehicles bringing out Hue refugees.

The government launched an emergency program to shelter and resettle the flood of refugees from the fallen and falling provinces in the far north and the Central Highlands. Officials said as many as 1 million people may have been left homeless in the three-week Communist offensive.

Government troops today were driven out of Kien Duc, a town 110 miles northeast of Saigon, after six hours of heavy fighting, government spokesmen said.

Over 500 rounds of Communist artillery fire pounded Kien Duc and severed communication with Gia Nghia provincial capital 10 miles away.

A compilation of government war reports showed that in three weeks of the offensive South Vietnam has lost about one-third of its territory to the Communists, putting nearly 1.3 million persons in dire jeopardy.

The mass retreat from the Mekong Delta in the south to Quang Tri in the north touched off a wave of panic buying, food-hoarding and airline ticket-scalping across the country.

Worried civilians in Dalat, a resort city north of Saigon, paid black marketeers more than $200 in gold bullion for scarce $10 airline tickets to the capital.

Residents of Saigon rushed to the city's crowded food markets to buy supplies for home stockpiles, driving up the price of rice at least 10 per cent.

Vendors ran out of vegetables by mid-morning at the city's main market and leftover seafood normally given to beggars sold at premium prices.

Officials of the four-nation peacekeeping team pulled officers out of all but three field outposts — the northern port of Da Nang, coastal Nha Trang and the resort city of Vung Tau near Saigon.

Jury to Start Deliberations On Monday

By MATT SPIRENG

KINGSTON

Testimony ended Thursday in the third murder trial of Gerald McGivern and Charles Culhane with the jury being sent home for a three-day weekend before they hear summations and the judge's charge and begin their deliberations as to the guilt or innocence of the two defendants on Monday.

The fourth and final defense witness called to testify Thursday was McGivern. He had not testified at the two previous trials. Culhane testified at the first trial but not at the second, and also testified Wednesday and Thursday.

McGivern's testimony under questioning by his attorney Karen Peters, like the testimony of Culhane, was in conflict with testimony given by former Westchester County Deputy Sheriff Joseph Singer, who survived the alleged escape attempt in which Deputy William Fitzgerald and inmate Robert Bowerman died.

Both Culhane and McGivern assert, in essence, that Bowerman alone attempted to escape.

There were three points in McGivern's testimony which differed from testimony given by Culhane, and which weighed heavily in the cross examination.

McGivern said that Fitzgerald appeared to be unconscious after being struck by Bowerman, that Bowerman ordered Singer to keep driving after he took his gun and that Singer walked with Culhane around the car after Culhane was shot. Culhane had made no such testimony, and said, in fact, that after being shot he fell unconscious and woke up sitting outside the car.

Under questioning by First Assistant DA Michael Kavanagh, who is prosecuting the case with DA Francis J. Vogt, McGivern asserted that he never mentioned the three points to Culhane until about a week ago, or sooner.

After having elicited from McGivern that he read a transcript of Culhane's testimony at the first trial, Kavanagh asked McGivern (who, according to Singer, shot Fitzgerald) if Culhane had ever testified to the three points. Culhane's attorney

Henry Rothblatt objected, and Kavanagh told Judge Robert Ecker that the prosecution intends to argue in summation that the testimony as to the three points is a "recent fabrication" by the defendants.

Kavanagh further attacked McGivern's credibility when he asked whether he had during the 6½ years since the alleged crime ever discussed at length with Culhane what happened on Sept. 13, 1968. McGivern said he had not.

Kavanagh then drew from McGivern testimony concerning where he and Culhane have been imprisoned since 1968. It was revealed through the testimony that they have spent much of the time in the same jail or prisons. Asked whether they ever shared a "room" at the Ulster County Jail, McGivern denied that they had. But under further questioning, he changed his testimony, revealing that they spent "nine months" in the same "room" at the Ulster County Jail last year.

McGivern also testified concerning previous convictions for "failure to pay income tax on marijuana," resisting arrest, robbery, assault and grand larceny.

Koenig Wants Funds, Construction

KINGSTON

A double-barreled appeal to the state was made this week by Kingston Mayor Francis R. Koenig in letters to Gov. Hugh Carey and State Transportation Commissioner Raymond T. Schuler asking for:

- Funds for the restoration of the old Kingston City Hall.
- Early construction of the new Rondout Creek Bridge.

Koenig told the governor that it has been brought to his attention that legislation is pending concerning funding for preservation of historic sites.

Pointing out that the old city hall has been designated as an historic site by the New York State Historic Trust and boasts an address as the first Capital of the state, the mayor suggests that if it could be rehabilitated, perhaps state and federal offices now in Kingston could be located there.

Koenig points out that the building is more than 100 years old and that the city will not only be celebrating the country's bicentennial in 1976 but the state's bicentennial in 1977.

The mayor told the governor of a recent inspection of the building made by Carl J. Gurak, assistant building electrical engineer for the State of New York, in which it was noted that the historic site is in substantial need of rehabilitation. Koenig asks that Carey visit the city as soon as opportunity presents itself, and sent copies of his letter to the governor to State Senators Richard E. Schermerhorn (R-40th Dist.), Edwyn E. Mason (R-48th Dist.) and Assemblyman Maurice D. Hinchey (D-101st Dist.)

In his communication to Schuler regarding the Rondout Creek Bridge, Mayor Koenig points out the need for construction in the City of Kingston because of the very high unemployment rate.

In view of the $2 billion impounded by President Gerald Ford to spur highway construction throughout the country, Koenig asked Carey that some of the funds be directed to Kingston "to help our economy and at the same time create new jobs."

He said he would like to see construction of the bridge started "at the earliest possible time, tying it in directly with that section of the North-South Arterial which will be under construction shortly between Meadow and Murray Streets.

Koenig said he feels such a program at this time would be most beneficial not only to the City of Kingston but to the State Transportation Department as well.

CIA Charged With Letter Opening

WASHINGTON (UPI) — During a 20 year period beginning in 1953, the Postal Service cooperated with the CIA in an illegal mail opening operation concentrated on mail between the United States and Communist countries, according to House testimony made public today.

Chief Postal Inspector William J. Cotter outlined to the House Civil Liberties subcommittee last Tuesday the details behind a Central Intelligence Agency mail surveillance project that inspected mail going to and from the Soviet Union and China, among other countries, between 1953 and 1973.

Cotter said he ended the project shortly thereafter. Cotter said former Postmaster General Winton Blount and former Attorney General John N. Mitchell, who both served in the Nixon administration, knew about the clandestine mail surveillance operation.

He did not know who else was aware of the mail opening operation which took place at Kennedy International Airport in New York and in San Francisco. But he expressed the belief that every president going back to Dwight D.

Eisenhower was "aware of this activity conducted by the CIA."

Under the law, first class mail cannot be opened by any government agency without a court search and seizure order. Cotter, who was a CIA official at the time the mail opening operation began in 1953, said that he made continual efforts to try to stop the project when he became the Postal Services' chief postal inspector.

"I was pushing to get rid of the project," Cotter said. He said he went to then CIA Director Richard Helms in 1971 and told him "either get exceedingly high approval for this project, or discontinue the project."

Cotter said Blount called him three days later and told him to "carry on with the project" and that Mitchell "at that time ... was briefed and thought ... the project was fine."

Cotter said that the CIA was instructed not to open or remove the letters from the postal premises on which they were examined but explain that the CIA "without the concurrence of the postal people ... surreptitiously appropriated some letters and opened the letter."

$40,000 Holdup

TANNERSVILLE (UPI)

A ski-masked bandit held up a branch bank of the Bankers Trust Co. of Albany in this Greene County village today, escaping with an estimated $40,000, state police said.

The robber, wearing green coveralls and a dark ski jacket and carrying what was believed to be a 22-calibre rifle, entered the bank shortly after it opened at 9 a.m. and forced a clerk to hand over the money, troopers said.

Although his face was covered by the ski mask, witnesses said the bandit was white, in his early 20s and about 5 feet, 7 inches tall.

Troopers said a blue getaway car was found abandoned about a mile from the scene and it was believed the robber had fled on a small motorcycle. Roadblocks were set up.

City Mini-Busing Plan...Public Reaction Highly Favorable

By CARL GRAHAM

KINGSTON
If Kingston's proposed mini-busing plan fares as well with federal and state aid fund givers as it did with the public at Thursday night's public hearing at City Hall, there should be no problems in getting the three 18-23 passenger, air conditioned buses into operation.

The hearing was a prerequisite to Mayor Francis R. Koenig's application for $75,247 in federal aid and $14,109 in state funds toward the estimated total purchase cost of $94,059. All of the speakers concentrated on the proposed routes and service rather than on purchase of the buses themselves, and no one spoke against the proposal.

City Planner Robert E. Pritchard, stressing that the two proposed routes are only tentative, said they had been chosen to comply with federal guidelines that call for service to be set up to favor areas where blacks, the elderly, and the handicapped live. One route would make a loop in the Lucas Avenue-Fairview

Avenue area, serve the up-town area, and run down Broadway to form another loop in the Marys Avenue-Benedictine Hospital area. The second would serve the

Ponkhookie section, duplicate the present Ausanio service route in some places in the downtown section, and loop through the East Chester-Flatbush-Albany Avenue section.

Transfer points would enable customers to reach any point on both lines and there would be no infringement on present service, Pritchard noted.

Kenneth Coombs of 35 Livingston Street, president of the Gateway Clients Action Organization, said his 125-member group favored the proposal. "Most handicapped persons are living on Social Security or pensions and to get anywhere they must travel by taxicab," he noted. "Any savings you make by shopping at larger markets is lost when you have to pay taxi fares."

Coombs called for special fares for the handicapped. "Money saved by the handicapped on taxi fares would go into the economy," he noted. "Everyone would benefit, instead of just one or two taxicab companies."

Joe Epstein of 73 Highland Avenue also favored the busing plan. He asked if any federal and state aid would be available toward operating expenses. Koenig said that the aid figures quoted were only toward purchase of the buses. He said aid was available for operating expenses, based strictly upon actual operating costs.

Alderman John E. Finch (D-5th Ward), also endorsed the busing idea, but suggested wider route coverages. He noted that there were numerous senior citizens in his ward who would benefit from the service. "I hope they can get even partial service," Finch said.

Koenig said after the hearing that applications for aid would be forwarded as soon as possible to the U.S. Department of Transportation and the New York State Department of Transportation, which administer the fund grants.

The city's present transportation system consists of the single Ausanio bus, confined to the immediate Broadway area. Bus lines operating into the city from other places are prohibited by their charters from picking up and discharging passengers within the city limits, Pritchard noted.

Smith Attacks Koenig Remarks

KINGSTON
"To allow city property to deteriorate to the extent reported in Tuesday's Daily Freeman borders on alfeasance in office," Alderman Brian Smith charged Thursday.

Taking what he called sharp issue with recent statement of Mayor Francis R. Koenig concerning the old city hall, Smith, the only Republican on the 13-man Common Council said "the mayor is not being honest with the people when he infers that the responsibility for maintaining the now abandoned city hall rested with the Building and Supply Committee of the Common Council."

Smith suggested that "every student of social studies knows the Common Council's sole function is legislative in nature."

The Third Ward alderman said "it is the mayor who is the city's chief executive officer and responsible for the operation of the municipal departments."

"He is in charge of building maintenance," Smith declared.

Saying he has been approached by many people since the newspaper's disclosure, the minority leader said he is not alone in his feelings—that all have uttered shock at the present deplorable state of the old building.

Smith himself finds the abandonment by the city of the Sojourner Truth statue the "most deplorable." It deserves a better location than an abandoned building, he said.

Recalling that many communities have named public schools for Sojourner, a famous civil rights advocate who lived in this area, Smith also reflected on the fact that the State University at New Paltz named a building in her honor and that children have a school holiday in her honor. "If Mayor Koenig didn't want to place this statue of Sojourner Truth in a more suitable location in our community, then he should at least offer it to some institution bearing her name," Smith suggested.

"The Freeman story depicted records damaged by water. If these are in fact public records then the mayor has surely been derelict in his duties. If they are not public records, the people should be informed that they are not and the debris should be removed to avoid the hazard of fire," Smith said.

"One of the Freeman photographs revealed that the city's honor roll of veterans was not removed from the old building," Smith pointed out. "I would hope that veterans organizations will take it upon themselves to find a suitable place for the abandoned roll of honor since apparently Mayor Koenig has no intention of doing so."

"Government at all levels is being assailed by a citizenry that has lost confidence in elected officials," Smith said. "The revelation of the atrocious condition of the old city hall has certainly done nothing to enhance the public image of the Koenig administration."

Debut of Spring

By United Press International

The swallows were nesting in Capistrano, dogwood trees and jonquils were in bloom, and geese were winging north today as spring made its 1975 debut.

But Willie Smith of Murphysboro, Ill., wasn't convinced. For one thing, says Smith, the snakes and wooly worm's aren't out yet. And spring won't really arrive until they appear.

"It's beautiful weather now, but we're going to have some more very bad winter weather later —and more snow," the 76-year-old Southern Illinois naturalist said.

Smith operates the American Museum in Murphysboro, Ill., and has been predicting the weather for 60 years through observation of wildlife and plants.

"The purple martins'll be here soon, and that's a good sign. But when the water moccasins and the wooly worms come out, that's when spring really starts," he said.

The lilacs were budding and the jonquils were in bloom in Southern Illinois and geese on their northerly migration were flocking to state preserves.

The swallows, except for a few stragglers, have returned to San Juan Capistrano, Calif., right on schedule and have taken up residency, as usual, in the towers of the 200-year-old mission.

Scattered golf courses were open as far north as Albany, N.Y., and the dogwoods and azaleas were in bloom in much of Dixie. Sailboats dotted the water on the Ross Barnett reservoir in Jackson, Miss., but spring flooding threatened much of the southland.

The Mississippi River and its tributaries also were out on their annual spring rampage, flooding more than 1.3 million acres of lowlands in Mississippi, Louisiana and Arkansas and prompting Winona, Minn., officials to hire workers to fill sandbags in case the mighty Mississippi gets uppity.

Flood Preparedness

RICHMOND (UPI) — City officials, wary of the flood-prone James River, put an emergency preparedness plan into action Thursday and began evacuating a few families from the most threatened areas.

The rain-swollen James swelled today toward a crest forecast as high as 15 feet above flood level and threatened to flood Richmond for the fourth time in six years.

Businessmen in the city's low-lying east end spent most of Thursday boarding up their shops and loading goods to escape the kind of flooding that has struck three times in the past six years.

An October, 1972 flood caused $350,000 in damages in Richmond. Flooding in June, 1972, caused $30 million damage, and in 1969, Hurricane Camille ravaged large sections of the city with violent storms and winds.

A several block area near 17th and Main Streets took on the appearance of a town evacuating to avoid an air raid Thursday. Scores of fire fighters passed out and nailed yellow flyers on buildings warning residents and businessmen of the predicted high waters.

Sandbags were placed atop manhole covers to prevent high water from gushing up from sewers. Public Utilities Director Edward Lordley shut down the city's waste water plant.

Firemen delivered evacuation notices to persons living in areas within a 24-foot elevation of the James River, and more notices were being printed for persons living beyond that mark.

A Virginia National Guard unit volunteered 20 trucks and 80 men to help 17 teams of city volunteers evacuate furniture from endangered homes if necessary.

'Witch Hunt' Charged

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The father of a man sought in the search for fugitive heiress Patricia Hearst refused Thursday to answer grand jury questions and charged the government was conducting a "witch hunt" against his family.

John J. Scott, 66, of Las Vegas, Nev., whose son Jack is believed by the FBI to have rented a remote Pennsylvania farmhouse for Miss Hearst last fall, denied he or his son had done anything wrong.

"Apparently the FBI is trying to use me to get at my son, Jack, or perhaps even to find Patricia Hearst," Scott said in a statement read by his attorney outside the federal grand jury chambers.

"This is a gross perversion of the grand jury's historic function," he said.

"I cannot help the FBI. I do not have the information they want. I cannot, and I will not, participate in witch hunts against my son or other members of my family. We are sure that he has done nothing wrong and he will be vindicated in the end."

Scott appeared for less than 10 minutes and cited the 5th Amendment in refusing to answer questions of the jury which has been investigating the Hearst case more than a year.

Scott's attorney, Doron Weinberg, denied to reporters that the elder Scott knew anything about Patricia Hearst's whereabouts or had ever harbored her as reported by Time Magazine. He said he knew of no contempt proceedings against Scott for his refusal to testify.

The name of his son, Jack, 32, still sought for questioning by the FBI, entered the Hearst case after discovery of the remote northeast Pennsylvania farmhouse earlier this month.

... Southern Feud Over Country Ham ...

Learning the Body's Parts

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — It doesn't take a gourmet to recognize the dry, salty and pungent flavor of country ham. But now meat packers and small farmers are feuding over exactly what it takes to make the Southern delicacy.

The feud began five years ago when North Carolina producers asked the U.S. Agriculture Department to set criteria for using the coveted country ham label.

With exception of Virginia's Smithfield Ham — made by four firms under patents protected by both Virginia and federal law — there are no country ham standards other than taste and appearance.

Some farmers age hams up to a year, using secret formulas dating back to colonial days when Indians taught early settlers to preserve ham. Others contend modern methods can cut the curing time drastically.

"They're trying to get them down to a 60 to 70-day ham," said Robert Pulley of Ivor in Tidewater Virginia. "It's cheaper and it won't shrink as much. It's not a quality product. You just don't have that good pungent taste to it."

"It's not so much the USDA, but the big boys in the meat packing business," said Pulley, whose family has made country hams for three generations.

The USDA proposed standards in 1970 and 1972 but withdrew them. Small farmers in Virginia and North Carolina disagreed on standards and also accused large packers of wanting to sacrifice quality for profit. The USDA Meat and Poultry Inspection Division said it was "caught in the middle."

"The department is not interested in publishing a standard that shows favoritism toward any one group or locale," said USDA spokesman Bill Dennis. "At this stage, we don't know when we will put out a new proposal."

Robert Oliver, president of the Virginia Meat Packers Association, said North Carolinians want a minimum 60 day cure while some Virginians want 55 days and others want to simply require that the hams have certain characteristics.

"If someone is able to come with the same finished product in less time by using advanced technology, as long as it has all the characteristics —like dry texture, density and salt content —they should be allowed to take advantage of it," said Oliver, an executive with a large meat packer.

Dr. R.F. Kelley, a Virginia Tech swine specialist, has fears that big packers will "use the country ham label when in fact it's not really a country ham."

"They will simulate it, try to control the temperature and heating. They are going to make these things more like artificial products. I can take a country ham and hang it up and that thing might be good for three, four, five, six months."

"If I did that with a faster cured ham, you'd have problems," he said.

Surry ham packer Wallace Edwards doubts the USDA can devise satisfactory standards but adds, "Most everyone agrees country ham should be self-stable —that is, it doesn't require refrigeration."

"There's a significant difference in the flavor between one that's 12 months old and one that is considerably less. The consumers know what they like."

Herb Jones, an Isle of Wight county extension agent, believes the USDA should not try to set country ham criteria.

"The pioneers in this country were raised on this type of home cooking," Jones said. "For someone to come along and say this is all wrong would be an injustice."

"The one thing that made the country ham and the Smithfield Ham so significant is all the tender, loving care that went into it."

'Singing Cop'

DENVER (UPI) — Singer Frankie Rino left the nightclubs of Las Vegas to become a policeman. But he says he can't afford to stop crooning —and he is in hot water because of it.

Rino is in trouble with his chief for singing in a supper club before he starts a pre-dawn patrol of the city.

The chief says moonlighting by rookies is prohibited.

"I'm not going to give up singing," said Rino, sitting it out between sets. "If it's something you enjoy doing, why should you have to give it up? I enjoy singing. That's my high."

"I respect the chief, but this thing is now in litigation."

Rino, 30, was graduated from the Police Academy in December and asked permission to sing during off-duty hours to augment the $900 monthly salary of rookies. Chief Art Dill turned him down.

Dill said department rules prohibited police officers from moonlighting for at least one year from the time they joined the force. He said Rino's decision to sing anyway was a violation of the rules but has yet to take formal action.

"I personally don't feel my entertaining presents a conflict," said Rino, waving at a lady fan across the paneled wood dining room lit by Tiffany lamps. "I don't see why the two jobs can't go hand-in-hand. My problem centers on how to live on $900."

Rino sings four hours a night at the supper club before putting on his blue uniform, shield and revolver for an eight-hour duty shift in a patrol car. His songs are mostly old standards.

"Those are the kind of songs I like to sing," he says. "Those are the kind they come to hear."

'Scenic Hudson' Gains Support

WASHINGTON
A request by the Scenic Hudson Preservation Conference that the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce conduct oversight hearings into the performance of the Federal Power Commission and the commission's possible failures to protect the public interest, received affirmative response today from Rep. Richard L. Ottinger (D-24th Dist.). In response to a letter from the conservation organization, which has led the 12-year fight to protect Storm

King Mountain from Con Edison's proposed pumped storage hydroelectric facility, Ottinger told the group that he and Congressman John Moss, who chairs the Committee's Oversight and Investigations Subcommittee, have already made plans to conduct such a hearing.

Ottinger who is the ranking member of the subcommittee, said, "We expect to be putting together a prospective witness list in the near future, and I will certainly be inviting witnesses from scenic Hudson to come before the committee to participate in the hearings."

Ottinger sent a letter to Moss in which he said that the Scenic Hudson letter "is a superb explanation of some of the abuses and failings of the FPC in this case. It serves to demonstrate further reason for us to proceed with the kind of oversight hearings you and I have been discussing."

In a related action this week, Ottinger joined with Senator Lee Metcalf in introducing the National Electrical Energy Conservation Act of 1975, which would provide for the establishment of a national electric transmission grid system. "Should we succeed in getting a national power grid, we estimate that as much as 25 percent of the currently proposed generating capacity expansion in the country might not be needed."

Wallkill Flood Control Plan

WASHINGTON, D.C.
Measures to prevent recurrent flooding in the black dirt farming area of Orange County are outlined in a survey report on the Wallkill River Flood Control project to be submitted to the Secretary of the Army's Office this month by the Army Corps of Engineers.

Congressman Benjamin A. Gilman (R-26th Dist.) said the report will then have to be submitted to the Office of Management and Budget for its comment. Following that review it will be sent to Congress for final authorization and funding of the project.

The $12.7 million project is aimed at eliminating flooding along the Wallkill River in Orange County. It is estimated that authorization and appropriations will take an additional 18 months after approval of the project, Gilman noted.

The congressman who has been pressing the Corps of Engineers for progress reports on the flood control project, noted that "these floods may occur again this year or next, subjecting our farmers to further hardships even while they are still struggling with the burdens imposed upon them by the last flood."

Col. V.L. Rathbun of the Corps of Engineers, noting Gilman's concern, said "we are aiming to submit the report with all accompanying data to the Office of the Secretary of the Army by the end of this month."

"Expedient action on this delayed report is very much in order," Gilman said, "because of the day-to-day struggle facing our farmers and the likelihood that these tragic and destructive floods may recur at any time. Our muckland area in Orange County represents more than 10,000 acres of working farms, one of the keys to our region's economy."

Water Metering

The recommendation by Dr. David Buerle, a consultant to the Catskill Study Commission, that the use of water by New York City residents be metered is an idea that has been a long time a'bornin' but one that should be acted upon in the near future. At least 90 percent of the city's water needs come from the Catskill region, and in these days of heavy emphasis on conservation, a method to make people in the metropolitan area aware that water is a precious commodity must be implemented. The criminal waste caused by dripping faucets, running toilets and open fire hydrants must be curbed, and this can only be accomplished by making the violators pay for their indifference.

And another interesting aspect of metering is who would get the lion's share of the proceeds? In the case of the Ashokan, for instance, New York City owns great tracts of land surrounding the reservoir, and would be predictably loathe to share any funds derived from metering. But put to a court test, it would seem that the Town of Olive, where the reservoir is situated, or even all of Ulster County, would have a good case if they moved to cut themselves a piece of the pie.

Pet Abuse

One of the grimmer side effects of the recession is an increase in cases of animal abuse. Groups devoted to animal protection report that more and more pets are being mistreated — not merely starved as they dumbly compete for the food dollar, but "cut open, thrown out of windows, beaten and stomped to death."

The quoted words are from comments by Donald Lambert, law enforcement chief for the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. He reports that whereas such incidents occur even in good times, "frustration and tension seem to be on the increase, and people are taking it out on their animals."

Cases of sadistic abuse of animals are the most dramatic, and get the most attention. Reports from around the country give reason to believe that there are far more cases of malnourished or starving pets. By no means all such instances involve deliberate cruelty; many people can no longer properly feed their pets, but are unwilling to turn them over to animal protection groups.

The evidence of willingness to take out frustrations on helpless pets is disturbing, but another thought comes to mind. What is happening underscores the need for better legal curbs on the swiftly rising animal population. Abuses occur in part because there are just too many pets around.

WASHINGTON—While Secretary of State Henry Kissinger is promoting peace in the Middle East, according to sources familiar with his grand design, he is also preparing for continued hostility.

At best, he believes he may be able to keep the Arabs and Israelis apart until the next round of negotiations. A final settlement, he knows, will have to come out of Geneva. He has given up trying to prevent a revival of the Geneva conference, where both the Soviet Union and the Palestine Liberation Organization will be represented.

Kissinger believes that the Soviets want to continue the tension in the Middle East, albeit without open warfare which could bring a dangerous confrontation with the

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Kissinger Plays a Geopolitical Game

United States. For tension keeps the Arabs dependent upon Soviet support.

If permanent peace should come to the Middle East, the Arabs would have less need of Soviet arms and could gradually loosen their ties with Moscow. Only Arab fear of Israel's military power, the Kremlin recognizes, permits the Soviets to keep their foothold in the Middle East.

Kissinger, therefore, expects the Soviets to obstruct any settlement that could bring lasting peace between the Arabs and Israelis. This is the reason he has tried to keep the negotiations away from Geneva, where the Soviets have a voice.

This is no longer possible, Kissinger realizes, so peace in the Middle East will remain tenuous. The astute secretary of state has been moving, meanwhile, to protect American interests in the area.

He has been guided more by geography than ideology. The United States, for example, has a big stake in the rich oil fields around the Persian Gulf. Consequently, he has sought to strengthen U.S. ties with the Persian Gulf states from Iran to Oman. He is trying to bolster the military power of Iran, in particular, as the protector of the Persian Gulf. But he is also doing all in his power to help all the Arab oil sheikhs to put down radical, Communist-inspired movements.

Pakistan is strategically located at the top of the Arabian Sea, commanding the approaches to the Persian Gulf. This is one reason, say our sources, for Kissinger's famous tilt toward Pakistan. He has quietly encouraged Iran and other oil potentates to provide Pakistan with over $1 billion in military aid. Now Kissinger has also lifted the U.S. embargo, which will permit the United States to ship arms directly to Pakistan.

Also crucial to U.S. interests in the Middle East, Kissinger contends, is Turkey which sits astride the Soviet passageway from the Black Sea to the Mediterranean Sea. This explains his careful but unsuccessful attempts to tilt toward Turkey. In the secretary's view, Turkey is an essential ally which Congress has alienated by cutting off military aid.

In private, Kissinger has complained that he is bound by geopolitics in choosing the allies that will be best for the United States. He has to give second place, he has said, to the degree of democracy in those countries and to their ethnic constituencies in the United States.

SECRET AGENT? CIA defector Phillip Agee has identified a former Paris associate, named Sal Ferrera as a probable undercover CIA agent. We have now learned that the same Ferrera was once on the staff of Washington's underground newspaper, "Quicksilver Times."

It would have made a perfect cover for CIA work. For as an underground reporter, Ferrera had access to the radical leaders, ghetto militants, Latin American leftists and other revolutionaries who came to Washington.

Subsequently, Ferrera moved to Paris where he became associated with an attractive woman named Leslie Donegan. Agee charged that she loaned him a bugged typewriter. It contained a hidden electronic device, which made it possible for the CIA to locate his hideout in Paris. Agee says he is "almost" sure that Ferrera was also a CIA spy.

Ferrera denied to us that he has ever worked for the CIA. But his former associates in Washington's colorful underground press community believe that Agee's suspicions about Ferrera may be right.

They recall, for example, that he lived in a fashionable apartment and was always better fixed for cash than his comrades in the "Quicksilver Times" commune.

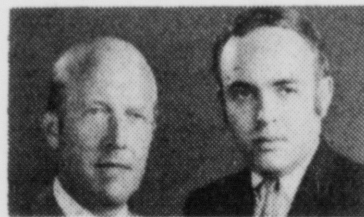

"He wasn't living out of a sleeping bag or an orange crate," said one former friend, Patti Heck. Another acquaintance, lawyer Douglas Smith, agreed: "Sal's lifestyle was inconsistent with his professed political views. He lived in a nice apartment, a new building where you had to be announced to get in."

Ferrera also had a fascination for electronic equipment and knew how to use it, they said. Ms. Heck told us she expected "sooner or later somebody was going to turn up" as an infiltrator, but she hates to think it was her friend Ferrera.

"When I saw the Agee book," she said sadly, "I cried. I didn't want to believe it. I really liked him."

Inside Report

A Retreat Spawnd in Washington

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — U.S. Officials were neither consulted nor alerted by President Nguyen Van Thieu before he suddenly pulled South Vietnamese troops out of the Central Highlands, so that policy makers here were stunned along with the rest of the world.

Had they been asked, most U.S. experts would have given cautious approval to Thieu's gamble (though one Vietnamese specialist here privately considers the withdrawal "precipitous" and bearing grave risks). The fact that they were not asked completes the end of Washington's tutelage over Saigon but also carries more sinister connotations: resentment in Saigon that Congress has doomed South Vietnam to destruction.

Thieu abandoned three highlands provinces in hope that the accelerating Communist offensive by North Vietnamese regulars might be contained if Saigon constricts its lines. Behind that hope is the reality of reduced U.S. military aid now and into the future. Indeed, North Vietnam's offensive was clearly prompted by the mood on Capitol Hill. Just as presidential intervention saved South Vietnam from the Communists in 1965, congressional disengagement may deliver the country over to Hanoi in 1975.

Today's South Vietnamese army (ARVN) bears no faint resemblance to the demoralized rabble saved from destruction by President Johnson a decade ago. Sen. Henry M. Jackson's attempt to justify his new dovishness with his astonishing statement that the ARVN will not fight is unanimously rejected by first-hand observers.

The British military authority, Sir Robert Thompson, came through Washington recently after a Vietnamese visit declaring Saigon's best outfits — marines, airborne, the 1st and 2nd ARVN divisions — better than any Western troops today, including Americans. Dovish Rep. Paul N. McCloskey, Jr., of California, a Marine infantry officer in Korea, was surprised by the high caliber of ARVN units he visited this month.

Thus, Thieu's pullout is not comparable to the inglorious retreats of Chiang Kai-shek's non-fighting Chinese divisions in 1949. Rather, it is an undersupplied army trying to counter its fully supplied foe by concentrating forces. Such an in-gathering was privately predicted to Assistant Secretary of State Philip Habib when he accompanied visiting Congressmen to Vietnam two weeks ago.

But neither Habib nor any other official was prepared for Thieu's move, so out of character with past attitudes in the presidential palace. Gen. Thieu formerly rejected sound recommendations from American advisers, particularly the late John Paul Van, that indefensible outposts in the Central Highlands north of Kontum be abandoned. Thieu refused to give up real estate without a battle.

Today, however, he is giving up Kontum (scene of many past sieges) and Pleiku before any fight. Thieu apparently sees heavy North Vietnamese artillery and armor used to capture the provincial capital of Ban Me Thuot in the highlands soon being deployed against Kontum.

Although Communist operations are officially described here as a "high point," they look like a full-fledged offensive to the Saigon high command. Besides the 968th North Vietnamese division coming into the Kontum sector from Laos, elements of two more regular divisions — the 341st and the 316th — have crossed over from North Vietnam. Hanoi's acceleration of conscription and training suggests more units on the way.

Why Hanoi has moved to the offensive is obvious. Hoc Tap, the North Vietnamese theoretical monthly, in January correctly predicted "the inability of the United States to continue its military and economic aid as it did previously because of its difficulties." To exploit that, it called for "attacking the enemy on all fronts."

The best response by Saigon would be, say knowledgeable U.S. officers, a combined air-ground strike in the highlands by fighter-bombers and airborne units. But today's lack of fuel and ammunition, likely to get worse instead of better, prevents direct action.

Thieu's alternative is to abandon a lightly populated area poor in rice. "It's a good physical solution, considering the problem," one U.S. Vietnam-watcher told us. "It's the psychological problem that worries me." That is, will abandoning the Central Highlands be perceived throughout South Vietnam as a signal that all is lost?

So, President Thieu is taking a gamble, even if a necessary one. But necessary or not, there is no criticism from Washington. After ARVN troops had "won" the war in 1972 (in the opinion of Sir Robert Thompson and other experts), Thieu was forced into signing a "peace" treaty with no safeguards against Hanoi pouring reinforcements into the South. With Moscow and Peking generous in military aid, those reinforcements roiled down from the North without fear of bomber attack to fight ARVN units crippled by U.S. air cutbacks. Thieu's gamble was spawned in Washington.

The Reader Writes

Child's Plight

Editor, The Freeman:

The purpose of this letter is two-fold. First, to compliment the Daily Freeman and our local radio stations on their responsible, increased coverage of the agonizing ordeal that the Yerkovich family is going through while trying to recover their daughter, Joanna. At present, it appears that the fate of her return will be determined only by your continued exposure of her case. I sincerely hope that you will continue to increase your coverage, so as to keep this poor child's fate in the forefront of people's minds until our public agencies are drawn together and accomplish her return.

Secondly, this is an impassioned plea to the District Attorney, the County Legislature, our local Police Agencies and the Federal Bureau of Investigation to get together quickly, in a coordinated effort to affect Joanna's return.

She was abducted in mid December. It is now three months later. What can Joanna be thinking? What can a six-year-old girl think when she is removed crying and kicking from her home by a man she doesn't care for, but who has court mandated visitation rights? What can a six-year-old little girl be thinking about after three months without seeing her mother and be thinking about after three months of not being able to play with her new baby sister? What does a six-year-old little girl think about who is still waiting to spend Christmas with her family?

What can we be thinking about by allowing this outrage to continue one single second longer than it already has?

Most Sincerely Yours,
William C. Carroll Jr.

Editor: The Freeman

George Washington in his farewell address read on Monday, September 17th one hundred and eighty years ago warned of changing our Constitution by any other method than amendment. He said "... Let there be no change by usurpation; for this though, in one instance, may be the instrument of good, it is the customary weapon by which free governments are destroyed. The precedent, must always greatly overbalance in permanent evil, any partial or transient benefit which the use at any time yield..." Certainly, wanting all viewpoints heard on issues is good. Yet when any member of government attempts with threat, can that be anything but evil? ... It would appear that Kingston Mayor Francis R. Koenig may be such a member of government. Next year, July the 4th, will be the 200th anniversary of the signing the Declaration of Independence. Yet here in the "Colonial" city, New York's first capital, only a short 199 years later, Our Mayor Koenig and his hand picked Board of Fire Commissioners with their Acting Fire Chief have stripped volunteer firemen and Captain R. Bruce McLean of the A. H. Wicks Engine & Truck Company, Inc. of his rights to the first amendment and it's guarantee of a free press.

Frank Koenig you are wrong, and so are your yes men. Acting Fire Chief Robert Maines should not have been allowed to the office that he has proven he could not qualify for, time after time, test after test with failure. We as taxpayers expect to have our money pay qualified men to hold our city positions, and you Mayor Koenig have failed us this time. I am sure that come November, Kingston voters, volunteer firemen, their families and friends will remember your actions at the polling places. The Volunteer Fire Service is Democracy in Action.

TV Violence

Editor, The Freeman:

It doesn't take a great intellect to realize that violence on week night television has increased considerably over the past two years. But even more disgusting is the knowledge that millions of children and adults are stimulated by the trash that is fed us nightly by the TV networks.

It is certainly paradoxical the way news commentators and politicians call for reform and civilized solutions, when in the very next time slot we are subjected to all this perverted garbage.

It would be in the best interests of all concerned if parents were to impose a nightly blackout of these junky shows. Let's not reinforce the image that violence is as American as apple pie.

Sincerely,
KENT KORBER

Contract

Editor, The Freeman:

We are writing to thank Legislators Kirk, West, DeBrosky and Scala for trying to be fair and voting against the 1975-1976 contract for Ulster County employees. Our special thanks go to George Kirk, Legislator District 4, who is on the Data Processing Committee. It proves one thing, that at least four of our Legislators have guts enough to vote against something that they feel is very wrong. It's really too bad that the others didn't take the time to read between the lines.

We are wondering how anyone could vote intelligently on a contract that they have not had in their hands to study beforehand. Decisions as important as a two year contract (that involves eleven hundred employees) should not be discussed and voted on at a Bar Mitzvah.

It seems to us that if it took five months to draw up the original contract which on February 5th was rejected by the entire Legislature, then how is it possible to draw up the second contract in such a short time and the same Legislators voted for it?

Salaries

Editor, The Freeman:

The rumor is out—our school taxes are to rise 10-12%, chiefly due to administrative and teacher salary demands based on increased cost of living.

Most school taxpayers have no protection against both the increased cost of living and school taxes.

In these days of the "pinch" let us all share and share alike—the good and the bad. School wages should not be increased. Fair?

Vultures

Editor, The Freeman:

Vultures are circling overhead from Albany to Washington, picking the bones of an extinct species. For this member of the wild kingdom, it was not granted the rights of an endangered species.

This one who had done so much to raise us out of poverty was the one and only—the automobile owner. Laws and taxes were passed to help nation and state out of their state of stupidity. We need money, said those protectors of endangered species, to balance the budget, give free rides, and lower the standards so everyone can enjoy the fruits of poverty.

Those automobile owners were wasting energy, like going to church, to work, to school, aiding the Boy Scouts on their camping trips, and plotting to unseat us political vultures out of or soft nests.

The extinct automobile owner thought he was helping mankind by giving them work. Not so, said the political vultures, you were giving us withdrawal pains of a feeling of unwantedness.

As the last vulture left, it was heard to remark, "That was a lousy meal, nothing left."

Angela

Editor, The Freeman:

In regards to the controversy over Angela Davis speaking at the Ulster County Community College, I say, let her talk. The only thing anyone needs to fear is the truth. If she is wrong as they say, she will destroy herself and it's the easiest and best way to get rid of her — or has the Establishment something to fear?

Stocks

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market, a loser the past three days, opened lower today in active trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average, a 24-point loser the past three sessions, was off 0.70 at 763.30 shortly after the opening. Declines led advances, 178 to 117, among the 436 issues crossing the tape.

Turnover amounted to around 390,000 shares. Just as the market opened, trendsetting First National City Bank of New York joined the ranks of other major banks by lowering its prime rate to 7 1/2 per cent from 7 3/4 per cent.

Legion Contest

NEW PALTZ — The American Legion National High School Oratorical Contest Committee will hold its Department of New York finals in New Paltz Saturday at 8 p.m. in the New Paltz Senior High School on South Putt Corners Road.

There will be five contestants competing for cash prizes of $3,000 for first, $1,000 for second and $500 for third and the right to represent New York State in the nationals.

The contestants to be heard Saturday have had to win in four preliminary contests to compete. The contestants and the judges are not identified until after the contest. The winner of this contest will go on to compete in a regional and sectional elimination for the right to compete in the National Contest and a share of the $18,000 cash and an additional $500 scholarship fund.

Police Probe KHS Fire

KINGSTON — City firemen were called to Kingston High School shortly after noon Thursday to douse a small fire of incendiary origin in the west wing of the building.

Fire fighters said the blaze was located in a pile of papers between steel stairs and a brick wall on the second floor of the west wing. The alarm was turned in by school officials, and when firemen arrived the blaze had been partially extinguished by custodial personnel. Firemen finished putting it out with slight paint damage resulting from the fire. Police were also reportedly called to the scene to investigate.

Meanwhile, fire of undetermined origin gutted the Lloyd Spearman residence on Route 213 in Atwood Thursday afternoon. Some 50 volunteers from the Vly-Atwood, Lomontville and Olive fire companies battled the flames for more than six hours. There were no injuries, according to Vly-Atwood Fire Chief Victor Merritt, who explained that efforts to put down the blaze were hampered by burning insulation in the attic of the structure.

Big Divisive Issue: The Player Contract

HONOLULU (UPI) — A player contract for the coming National Football League season is still a big question mark with the owners' Management Council still waiting for an updated proposal from the players.

Management Council General Manager John Thompson told the team owners Thursday that the Rozelle Rule, or option compensation proviso, was still the big divisive issue. Others are length of contract, management's pension contribution, pre-season pay, arbitration and agency or union shop. The players' last contract expired Jan. 31, 1974.

To Gerry Desjardins: A World of Difference

By United Press International

Goalender Gerry Desjardins, who recently jumped from the World Hockey Association back to the National Hockey League, says there's a world of difference between the two leagues.

"It's fun playing hockey again," he says. "When the fans didn't come in the WHA, you didn't get paid. I don't worry about my paycheck here. I can concentrate on going out and playing hockey."

Desjardins went out before the usual sellout Buffalo Sabre crowd of 15,863—compared to the "2,000 to 2,500" when he was with the WHA Michigan Stags—and stopped all but three of the 41 New York Ranger shots Thursday night to lead the Sabres to a 6-3 victory.

In the only other NHL games, Minnesota whipped Washington 5-1, Chicago routed Detroit 6-2 and Los Angeles edged St. Louis 3-2. In WHA play, Houston stopped Quebec 5-3, Indianapolis downed Edmonton 3-1 and Chicago beat San Diego 4-2.

North Stars 5, Capitals 1

Dwight Bialowas and Doug Hicks scored power play goals for Minnesota one minute apart to sent Washington to a record for most losses in an NHL season. The defeat was the 61st for the expansion Caps in 72 games and broke the New York Islanders' record of 60 established in the 1972-73 season.

Black Hawks 6, Red Wings 2

Stan Mikita scored twice to boost Chicago over Detroit. Pit Martin scored his 16th goal and Dale Tallon picked up his fourth, both in the final period, to help Chicago pull within a point of first-place Vancouver.

Kings 3, Blues 2

Dan Maloney and Mike Murphy scored third-period goals to lift Los Angeles over St. Louis. The winning goal on a power play deflected off Maloney's skate with 11:57 left on a shot by defenseman Sheldon Kannegiesser.

owners still want to bargain on all the issues but the players want to exclude the Rozelle Rule, letting it go through a court test instead, more or less.

That rule, established in 1962, applies when an NFL player decides to go to another team rather than play out his optional post-contract year with his contract team. Under the rule, the team to which he goes has to compensate another team with a player of equal value.

The players' last contract proposal was March 16 of last year when they came in with 57 demands, Thompson said. The Mackey court case delayed negotiations, with the players adopting a "No freedom, no football" attitude which led them to strike the NFL July 1.

a two-week cooling off period was declared Aug. 14 and the players reported to camp. However, 427 players had disobeyed union orders and reported to camp before Aug. 14.

The NFL's management negotiating team made a 35-point offer Aug. 27 which was rejected the same day by the players, who then decided to play without a contract for the first time since 1968.

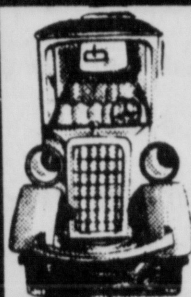

"We've reaffirmed our August proposal and we're waiting to hear from them," Thompson said. "We'd like to know now if they're in the same position. We've had some indications they're not, but we'd like confirmation."

Thompson said the NFL managers restated their position in a letter to the Players Association Feb. 19 of this year, and representatives of the two sides have gotten together informally a couple of times.

Medwick Dies

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI) — Hall of Famer Joe "Ducky" Medwick, a member of the "Gas House Gang" with the St. Louis Cardinals, died early this morning of a heart attack.

Medwick, 63, walked into Bayfront Medical Center at about 10 p.m. Thursday night complaining of chest pains. Dr. Stan London, the Cardinal team doctor, was summoned and he recognized it immediately as a massive heart seizure. Medwick died between 3 and 4 this morning.

Harter Sees Oregon Going All the Way

NEW YORK (UPI) — Coach Dick Harter thinks his Oregon team can "go all the way" in the National Invitation Basketball Tournament but realizes the Webfoots will have their work cut out for them Saturday when they take on Princeton's whirlwind offense in the semifinals.

"I said when we came here that we had a good chance to win it," Harter said Thursday night after Oregon advanced to the semifinals with a 68-59 victory over Oral Roberts. "And I still feel the same way. We've got good defense and that means we can contend with anybody."

Oregon's defense will have to be at its best against Princeton, however, because the Tigers showed their many passing and shooting skills when they demolished South Carolina 86-67 in the second game of Thursday's doubleheader. St. John's meets Providence in the other semifinal, with the title game set for Sunday.

Oregon won primarily because its tight defense forced Oral Roberts into numerous turnovers and hurried shooting. Oregon trailed 13-4 early in the game but then assumed command, led 33-32 at halftime and blew open the game with a 15-4 burst at the start of the second half. Oral Roberts never drew closer than six points after that and made the final score reasonably close with seven straight points against Oregon's reserves in the closing minutes.

"Our defense forced them to hurry their shots and passes," said Harter. "We kept the pressure on them and they started to shoot too fast."

Greg Ballard scored 23 points and had 15 rebounds for Oregon while Tony Roberts scored 18 points for Oral Roberts.

Underdog Princeton came out shooting in the second game and had a "hot hand" in Armond Hill, who scored 18 of his 22 points in the first 20 minutes. With Hill leading the way, Princeton took leads of 156 and 25-12 before leaving the court at intermission with a 42-24 bulge.

South Carolina threw a fullcourt press at Princeton at the start of the second half and with eight straight points in a minute and 32 seconds cut the Tigers' lead to 42-32.

Princeton Coach Pete Carrill called a timeout at that point and the Tigers promptly went off on a 14-4 burst which clinched the game.

"They were thrown off their game a bit and that's why I called the timeout," said Carrill. "I just told them to relax and move the ball around. I reminded them that the way to beat the full-court press is to always look for the open man."

Hill scored only four points in the second half but Tim Van Blommestein, who finished with 24 for the game, and Mark Hartley and Michael Steuerer took up the slack. The Tigers simply picked the press apart and at times scored virtually at will.

The Tigers also stopped Alex English and Mike Dunleavy almost cold—English scoring 10 points and Dunleavy 12 before fouling out in the second half.

And what about Princeton's chances to "go all the way" in the tournament?

"I think we'll just relax, take it easy and see what happens," said Carrill with a grin.

Donovan Quits

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — Eddie Donovan, the man who built the New York Knicks into world champions in 1969 and transformed the expansion Buffalo Braves into a playoff team last season, quit the Braves Thursday night amid speculation he was about to return to the Knicks.

Donovan announced he would not continue as Braves general manager after his current contract expires April 1. He reportedly told the Braves he had no plans for his future.

Braves President Paul Snyder indicated even before Donovan's announcement that the Knicks might have a Oregon State Thursday night and kept right up with the barrage in rolling to a 81-71 win in the NCAA Mideast regional semifinal game.

The Hoosiers will play Kentucky Saturday for the right to jet out to San Diego for the NCAA semifinals next week. Kentucky earned its second crack at Indiana with a 90-73 win over Central Michigan in the first game of the doubleheader.

Also on Saturday, Syracuse will meet Kansas State for the Eastern regional title, Maryland will play Louisville for the Midwest crown and UCLA will collide with Arizona State for the Western sector's NCAA invitation.

Indiana hit a torrid 64 per cent of its shots in the first half while building leads of up to 23 points against bewildered Oregon State. Coach Bobby Knight went to the bench heavily in the second half with the game out of reach to account for the eventual closing of the gap the Beavers.

Knight said his team was "anxious to put up a good show" against Oregon State because the Beavers defeated the Hoosiers rather handily last season 61-48.

"You have to be close to perfect to beat Indiana," Oregon State Coach Ralph Miller said. "Finding a weakness there is tough to do. Indiana is the best team we've played all year," added Miller, whose Beavers have played twice and registered a win against the West Coast's other NCAA hopeful UCLA.

Steve Green led the Indiana attack with 34 points and sophomore center Kent Benson followed with 23.

With Knight successful in employing his revenge motive to beat Oregon State, he may opt for the same tactic when his team takes to the hard-court against Kentucky.

Wildcat Coach Joe B. Hall predicted earlier this week Oregon State was going to knock off the undefeated Hoosiers because the Beavers had a defense suited to stop the Indiana offense. But Hall came very close to admitting it was just a smoke screen with his post-game comments after his team escaped with its win.

"Indiana was on everybody's mind and we couldn't do anything about it," he said of his team's lackadaisical performance in knocking off MidAmerican Conference champion Central Michigan. "We were not super-up for Central Michigan. We saved a lot for Saturday afternoon."

Kentucky clung to a 70-66 lead with five minutes left in the game before exploding for 14 of the next 18 points to put the match away.

Saturday's battle for the right to represent the Mideast will be the second meeting of the season between the two clubs. Kentucky was number six in the string of 35 wins pieced together by the Hoosiers.

"It's going to be a ding-dong battle," said Miller. In the Eastern regional, Syracuse shocked Atlantic Coast Conference champion North Carolina in the night's biggest upset, 78-76, on a 20-foot jump shot by guard Jim Lee with three seconds left. Kansas State rode Chuckie Williams' 24 second half points to beat Boston College 74-65.

In the Midwest sector, Maryland crushed Notre Dame with a smothering second half press, 83-71, and No. 3 ranked Louisville rode Junior Bridgeman's 20 points to a 78-63 triumph over Cincinnati.

In the West, UCLA was left gasping but a winner nonetheless by unheralded Montana, which pulled to within two with a minute left before falling 67-64. Forward Gary Johnson scored six points in the final minute and a half to bail out Arizona State in its 84-81 win over Nevada-Las Vegas.

LEE ELDER TAKES A BOW

Arnie One Off Pace In Jacksonville

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Arnold Palmer is just one shot off the lead.

That's just what the Greater Jacksonville Open needed to spark interest in a tournament that most of the "big names" bypassed this week.

But, anytime you have Arnold Palmer just one shot back, that brings the fans out, no matter who else might have shown up.

The leaders, going into today's second round of this $150,000 PGA tournament, are two fellows named B.R. "Mac" McLendon and Barney Thompson.

McLendon, from Birmingham, Ala., is better known of those two because he paired with Hubert Green last fall to win the National Team Championship at Disney World. But "Mac" was thinking about quitting the pro tour before that victory and Thompson, out of Huntington, W.Va., isn't even listed among the top 100 money winners so far this year.

McLendon and Thompson took the first round lead Thursday with 5-under-par 67s. Palmer and five others had 68s.

Lumped with Palmer a stroke off the pace are Lee Elder and Jim Dent, two of the few blacks on the pro golf tour, along with Ben Crenshaw, Grier Jones and Bob Dickson.

But, you can bet that the crowd will be following the 45-year-old Palmer today over the Deerwood Country Club course. Arnie is a big attraction even when he's not playing well. And, when he's this close...

Rondout High's Gymnasts Section Nine Champs

KYSERIKE - Nancy Shaver, Rondout Valley High's Hat Trick girl in gymnastics, achieved an unprecedented four-event sweep to lead the Ganderettes to the Section Nine championship with a 55.85-45.65 victory over Clarkstown in the finals held here.

Miss Shaver captured first place in the vaulting, floor exercise, balance beam and unevens. She scored 6.6 in the vaulting 6.75 in floor exercises, 4.6 in balance beam and 4.6 in unevens.

Chris Seaman and Kim Wilkins gave Rondout a 1-2-3 finish in vaulting. Holly Davis won third place in the balance beam and Rondout swept all four places in the unevens, with Kim Panaccione, Audrey Sinnott and Chris Seaman trailing Nancy in that order.

Trophies for Skaters

HURLEY - Trophies will be presented to Seven-Up Bottling, George Lamoreaux Mobil and Hoff-statter Brothers, the three division winners in the Hurley Recreation Hockey League.

Onteora Volleyballers Unbeaten in 14 Games

BOICEVILLE - Onteora High School girls volleyball squad defeated Wallkill and Rondout to extend their winning streak to 14 straight and clinch at least a tie for the 1975 Ulster County Athletic League championship.

Led by Cheryl Cifello and Debbie Cease, Onteora buried Wallkill 15-0 and 15-1, then edged Rondout 15-5, 4-15 and 15-7. Two matches remain on the schedule.

Boasting a balanced scoring attack led by John Fisher with 13, Seven-Up led its division all the way. Sean Matthews and Mike Ryan added to the punch that allowed the champs to edge DiPeri-Getty by two points in saves. Cindy Baldus continued to play defensively and as a setter. Ann Schroeder had 8 spikes and Dorian Krause came off the bench to provide serving strength.

The Jayvees extended their record to 9-5 by zipping Wallkill 15-2, 15-6 and beating Rondout 15-4, 17-15 in overtime.

NJCAA Tournament In Semi-Final Bracket

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (UPI) — Six teams play in daytime consolation games and the four unbeaten clubs compete in the semifinals of the championship bracket tonight in the national junior college basketball tournament.

In the semifinals, Southern Idaho meets Utica, Miss., and Western Texas of Snyder, engages DeKalb, Ga.

Today's consolation games: Lake Land, Ill., vs. Hutchinson; Anderson, S.C., vs. Grand View, Iowa, and San Jacinto, Pasadena, Tex., vs. Arizona Western.

Western Texas advanced Thursday night with a 79-70 verdict over San Jacinto on a 35-point performance by Bob Miller. DeKalb marched into the semifinals with a 77-76 decision over Arizona Western on a tipin in the final second of play Thursday night.

Thursday's consolation results: Westchester, N.Y., 70 Vincennes, Ind., 54; Grand View, Iowa, 92 Waukesha, Wis., 78; Anderson, S.C., 78 Housatonic, Conn., 69; and Hutchinson 99 Essex, N.J., 75.

the final standings. The squad was coached by Bill Ryan.

Lamoreaux Mobil battled Air Power Hose throughout the Pee Wee race, winning four times over Air Power including a 1-0 squeaker in the final game. Brothers Dan and Brian Caragher paced the Mobil team while Dave Douglas of Air Power topped the division's scorers with 21 goals.

Rick Hoffstatter's 20-goal season helped his team take the crown on points over runner-up Paley's Market. Paley's led the standing most of the way, but a closing rush by Hoffstatter's deadlocked the teams at 14 points apiece. Jim Kerr with 16 goals, and Kevin McLane with 11 were the leading Paley's scorers.

More All-Star Honors For Larry Carpenter

KINGSTON - Larry Carpenter, a Kingston High junior who was chosen a Freeman All Star and a DCSL All Star for his performance on the basketball court this season, received yet another honor this week when he was named to the Section One Tournament All Star Team.

The Tournament All Star team is composed of five players selected from the 58 team field. Named in addition to Carpenter were four seniors, Mike Bruno of Lincoln, Bernard Toone and Pete Redmond of Gorton and Kevin Clark of Tuckahoe.

Carpenter sparked for the Maroons all season and capped his first varsity year with a 26 point performance in the finals of Class AA. KHS coach Mike Rienzo called his backcourt ace, "The best guard Kingston has had in 30 years."

Bruno, a 6-8 center bound for Manhattan College next year, led Lincoln to the Class AA title. Toone, a high school All American reportedly heading for Marquette, and Redmond propelled Gorton to the Class A championship and the A-AA Open title. Clark led Tuckahoe to the Class C and B-C Open.

All star teams were also selected within each of the four classes. Carpenter and Bruno were double-A choices along with Dan Marquardt of Roosevelt, Andre Battle of Yonkers and Bob Fenton of Lincoln.

Rhinebeck's Ed Vaughn was a Class C selection, joining Clark and teammate Al Hagen, Tim Goodell of Bronxville and John Patterson of Pawling. There were no DCSL players on either the A or B Class teams.

Schedule 18 Contests For Ulster Community

STONE RIDGE - The Ulster County Community College baseball team will open its 1975 schedule at Westchester CC with a doubleheader on April 2, according to Athletic Director Al Dibernardo.

The Senators will then return home for a ten game homestand on their new on-campus field.

Ulster will play an 18-game slate including six doubleheaders against its Mid Hudson Conference opponents. Besides Westchester, they are Dutchess, Rockland, Orange, Sullivan and Putnam.

UCC will also face Region XV teams from Kingsborough, Staten Island and Manhattan and will meet a new foe, Columbia-Greene CC, in a home and away series.

The Region XV tournament is set for Dutchess-CC May 6, 8 and 10.

The Senators this year will

SAA Will Eliminate Four Sports Programs

SAUGERTIES
The Saugerties Athletic Association has voted to terminate four of its sports programs, including the Premier Basketball League, one of the most prestigious independent circuits in the Mid-Hudson area. Other activities to be eliminated are the Touch Football League, summer basketball and Goober softball.

"The programs were dropped for a variety of reasons," said Jack Keeley, an SAA spokesman. "The Premier League has seen a number of dwindling number of Saugerties participants and increased demand for court space was another prime consideration." Simultaneously, the SAA announced the addition of four new activities.

Keeley said the touch football league's demise was based on a wide range of reasons but there remains the possibility of a single-elimination Touch Football Tournament. The summer basketball program died largely because of attrition. The plethora of other summer activities resulted in too many forfeits.

Although the Goober softball league was dissolved, these youths will have the opportunity to compete in the men's softball league.

The two basketball leagues and touch football loop have operated continuously since the SAA was formed in 1968.

The proposed new activities include:

A youth basketball league for boys in either the 13-15 or 14-15 age groups.

A girls softball league for 13-15-year-olds.

A Superstar competition for both males and females in various age groups.

A horseshoe pitching league or tournament. Also on the drawing board is a proposed expansion of the current Sawyer basketball program.

In addition, the men's volleyball league will likely be changed from a spring to fall-winter activity to avoid conflict with other activities and allow for a longer schedule of play.

St. John's Easy Church Winner

KINGSTON
St. John's routed Fair Street 54-28 and Redeemer nipped St. James 26-25 in YMCA Senior Church Basketball League play.

S. MacCreery paced St. John's with 31 points and K. Jacobs added 13. J. Wolfersteig had 2 and B. Short 8. Lamoreaux led Fair Street with 8. Barask and C. Skinner each had 5. Economos 6 and O'Leary and J. Skinner two each.

B. Mazzucca led Redeemer with 16. J. Schleede added 2 and M. Broncato 5. J. Baechtle and B. Peper each had 8 for St. James. Petramale added 4 and Salzmann 5.

NEW PALTZ
New Paltz State's volleyball nomads traveled to Massachusetts twice this week, competing in tournaments at Springfield and Harvard. Coach Bill Odeneal's Hawks returned with a record of 2 wins and 3 losses.

The safari brought the Hawks' overall record to 12-7

Kingston Holds in 25th

SYRACUSE
The inter-class playoff in Section One's basketball tournament caused a shift in the New York State Sports-writers' Association weekly poll of large high schools, but Kingston High remained in 25th place despite its loss to Lincoln of Yonkers in the Class AA final.

Lincoln, which lost the AA-A battle to Gorton of Yonkers, moved from sixth to fifth position on the list. Class A champ Gorton, which defeated Lincoln, 51-43 in the open game, jumped to third place.

Fox Lane, rated No. 20, was the only other school to make the list from Section One. Ndwburgh of Section Nine, a first round victim in its sectional tournament, was ranked 22nd.

DCSL schools which received honorable mention in the poll were Beacon and Roosevelt.

In the small school division Liberty was rated ninth and Fallsburgh was ranked tenth. Honorable mention from the area were Marlboro, Red Hook and Rhinebeck.

rallied to take the match, 15-6 and 15-5.

The Hawks disposed of Queensborough College easily in the Springfield triangular, 15-8 and 15-3.

Then followed a trip to Cambridge where the Hawks got lost trying to find the proper gym on the Harvard campus. The Cantabs zipped New Paltz 15-7, 15-11 and 15-13. Queensborough did a turnaround from its performance in Springfield and beat the Hawks in four sets 15-8, 15-13, 10-15, 15-8.

Harvard topped New Paltz

in a one-set match, 15-8.

The Hawks registered eight unanswered points in the first set against Rhode Island to lead 14-12 but a net violation gave the ball back to RI and they tied it 14-14, eventually winning 16-14.

New Paltz started the second game against RI by reeling off the first nine points behind the strong serving of Reza Ahmadi, whose line drives over the net seemed to sink at the opponents' feet. Kevin Srepcinski's five serves nailed down the Hawks' 15-6 win.

In the third and final game, New Paltz dominated all the way, breaking a 5-5 tie with 10 unanswered points to win 15-5. Once again, Coach Bill Odeneal elected to go with the six New Paltz starters, Rich Madonna, John Perry, Denis Ponte, Bill Zdniak, Reza Ahmadi and Kevin Srepcinski, for the whole game.

Joe Owens, the Ndw Paltz State athletic director, substituted for Coach Odeneal at Cambridge. Odeneal was in Florida to attend his son's wedding.

City League to Induct Seven In Hall of Fame

KINGSTON
Seven former City Baseball League players will be inducted into the Hall of Fame on Wednesday, April 9, at Tommy's Rest on High Street.

The seven inductees announced by chairman Ed Murphy are: Gene Rider, Jimmy Gorman, Andy Celuch, Ed Minasian, Jackie McPhail, "Little John" Berardi and Charlie Francello.

Rider was a slugging catcher who competed for several years in the twilight leagues and with numerous independent teams in the mid-Hudson area. Celuch was a pitcher-outfielder and Minasian's solid baseball abilities were overshadowed by his stature as one of the city's all-time great football players at Kingston High and with the famed Yellow Jackets.

"Little John" Berardi was a member of the Berardi baseball family of East Kingston and a member of the championship Jones Dairy team. Charlie Francello came out of Glasco with a rifle shot infield arm and a potent batting stick.

Tickets may be purchased from the committee of Big Joe Mahr, Harold (Bo) Jones, Teddy Uhl, Millie Berardi and Murphy at the Standard Furniture Store on Wall Street.

Sonny's Cream Stewart's

KINGSTON
Six players hit in double figures, as Sonny's Tigers clawed Stewart's Ice Cream 90-21 in the YMCA "B" Basketball League.

In other games, Giustino's Market packaged Sass Electric 86-51; Uhl's Construction edged J&G Drywall 72-69; and Artie's Bar knocked off Wells Woffpack 79-70.

Al Schmidt led Sonny's with 22 points and 16 rebounds. Jeff Lucas added 19 points and Steve Hannay had 16 rebounds. John Kwasnowski led Stewart's with 10 points.

Cliff Schoonmaker scored the first nine points of the game and wound up with 35 to lead Giustino's romp over Sass Electric. Ed McDevitt rimmed 20 for the losers. Gary Chambers pulled down 21 rebounds for Giustino's and Schoonmaker had 15.

Uhl's were held scoreless for nearly the first five minutes of the game but came on strong to beat J&G. Juice Barnes registered 32 points and 18 rebounds for the winners. Joe Kershaw also had 18 rebounds. Barry Motzkin paced J&G with 14 points.

Ted Van Dyke paced the Artie's win with 20 points and Mike Kiernan had 15. Frank Samms paced the Woffpack with 26 and Steve Hesbach added 18.

Hawks Winged in Down East Trip and they are 3-5 in Eastern Collegiate Conference. New Paltz concludes its season by hosting a triangular in the Elting Gym Saturday.

The Springfield College Indians captured their own tournament and avenging an early-season loss to New Paltz in decisive fashion 15-0, 15-5. Against Rhode Island, the Hawks dropped the opener in overtime 14-16 but rallied to take the match, 15-6 and 15-5.

The Hawks disposed of Queensborough College easily in the Springfield triangular, 15-8 and 15-3.

Harvard topped New Paltz

in a one-set match, 15-8.

The Hawks registered eight unanswered points in the first set against Rhode Island to lead 14-12 but a net violation gave the ball back to RI and they tied it 14-14, eventually winning 16-14.

New Paltz started the second game against RI by reeling off the first nine points behind the strong serving of Reza Ahmadi, whose line drives over the net seemed to sink at the opponents' feet. Kevin Srepcinski's five serves nailed down the Hawks' 15-6 win.

In the third and final game, New Paltz dominated all the way, breaking a 5-5 tie with 10 unanswered points to win 15-5. Once again, Coach Bill Odeneal elected to go with the six New Paltz starters, Rich Madonna, John Perry, Denis Ponte, Bill Zdniak, Reza Ahmadi and Kevin Srepcinski, for the whole game.

Joe Owens, the Ndw Paltz State athletic director, substituted for Coach Odeneal at Cambridge. Odeneal was in Florida to attend his son's wedding.

"SPRING" DEBUTS AMID WINTER WEAR

RONDOUT CREEK REACTS TO SPRING THAW
(Freeman Photos by Haines)

Spring Has Sprung . . . But Don't Dunk Those Snow Tires

We wouldn't rush out and remove the snow tires just yet, but at least there's cause for hope with the arrival of Spring at 1:57 a.m. today.

At that precise minute, the sun stood directly over the earth's equator on its way north. As it continues its journey, the days will become longer and warmer and memories of a dark, cold and dismal winter will fade with each new blossom.

In Ulster County, traces of Spring are already aident. The mournful call of migrating geese clashes with clank and rattle of garden tools being retrieved from the recesses of the family garage. Crocuses as a welcome touch of color to an otherwise colorless landscape. And anxious golfers practice imaginary swings as they dream of birdie putts and booming fairway woods.

Today, Springtime put its best foot forward for the Mid-Hudson Valley. Sunny skies, blustery winds and cool temperatures helped residents forget two days of seasonably soggy weather.

Some streams in the area neared flood level Thursday after two days of persistent rainfall. Although no serious problems were reported, forecasters warn that we can expect much the same late Saturday and Sunday.

Lest our readers get carried away with the euphoria of the new season, however, it should be noted that snow graced the Ulster County landscape as late as May last year. And, although no one recalls asking for his opinion, an esteemed naturalist chose the first day of Spring to predict very bad weather and more snow for the Northeast before Summer officially arrives.

But at least over the long run we have something to look forward to. For the folks down at the south pole—if there are any—the sun sets Sunday and won't rise again until September 21.

Carey Hints at Drastic Measures if Proposed Budget Is Cut

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — As legislative leaders were busy in one room of the Capitol Thursday, finding ways to trim Gov. Hugh L. Carey's proposed state budget, he was telling reporters in another room of the drastic cutbacks that would follow if they didn't grant his full $806 million tax package. Although Carey was thrifty with details about the severe economies that might be necessary without added taxes, he left open the possibility that it could go as far as shortening the school year.

The legislators agreed among themselves not to worry about the tax side of the budget, but Democratic Assembly Speaker Stanley Steingut and Republican Senate Majority Leader Warren M. Anderson, according to a capitol source, agreed to cut the original $10.7 billion spending plan by $256 million.

The budget, with only one work-week remaining until the next fiscal year begins, was foremost on everyone's mind.

Failure to enact the requested tax increases, Carey warned the lawmakers, "will mean they will hear from the localities."

The Democratic governor, in the face of continuing Republican contentions that his proposed spending package could be financed without any tax hike, suggested he might settle for half a tank on his proposed 10-cent-a-gallon hike in the tax on gasoline.

If the full dime tax was unpalatable, Carey said, the legislators should "at least consider the local assistance portion of it and enact that."

One-half of the projected $400 million from the additional 10 cent fuel levy, under Carey's original proposal, would be funneled back to local governments.

Without the added taxing power, Carey said the state would be forced "to program on a day by day basis to reduce expenditures." Responding to a reporter's question if an abbreviated school year was among the "drastic steps" possible, the governor said, "that's not one I want, but I have seen across the country that that is one thing you see when there is a shortage of funds."

Carey labeled as "irresponsible" any move by the legislature to approve a budget which did not include the taxing power he repeated has said would be necessary to finance it.

Among other topics dealt with during an hour-long meeting with newsmen:

—As part of an assault against the "career criminal" he said he would ask the legislature for $13 million to fully fund 18 additional court parts created under the 1973 anti-drug plan set up by then Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Carey said a restriction that the special court parts be used primarily for drug cases would be lifted and the facilities would be open to handle "seriously backlogged" cases involving crimes of violence.

—He appointed Frank J. Rogers, 41, a special narcotics prosecutor for New York City, to the $47,800 post of commissioner of Criminal Justice Services, a post now held by Republican holdover Archibald R. Murray.

—The governor said he would require the Thruway Authority to conduct public hearings on the need for a proposed 15 per cent toll hike.

—Despite the admission of a top Carey campaign aid that he had prior knowledge about the leak of a newspaper story damaging to Carey's Republican opponent, Carey said he had "no intention" of ordering a special investigation. He said to do so would be "to set the governor up as judge and jury."

Area Legislators Favor School Aid Levels

By TIM SCHUSTER

ROSENDALE

With Assemblyman Maurice Hinchey calling for increased income taxes and Senator Richard Schermerhorn and Assemblyman Emeel Betros vowing to fight any tax increases, all three representatives told the Ulster County School Boards Association Thursday night they favored maintenance of present state aid levels to schools.

All three told the gathering at Williams Lake Hotel that it would be a few more days at least before negotiations among the Assembly, Senate, and governor's office were completed on the new state aid formula.

A major gripe aired by several board members was the fact that they had to prepare their budgets year after year with no knowledge of how much aid was coming down from Albany.

"I have no good news or bad news at the moment," stated Schermerhorn. He said he had "privileged information" on money to be allocated to schools, but would not reveal it because a member of the press was present and he did not want to upset the "delicate negotiations" in Albany.

Betros said he felt there was "enough support in both houses of the legislature to certainly maintain our level of spending."

Hinchey also noted that the timing of the association meeting was bad regarding information from Albany, adding that attempts are being made to get pertinent information to districts earlier than the traditional June date. He said that the state formula must be increased merely to maintain the present per capita aid level to districts.

All three representatives agreed that the property tax system of supporting education is outmoded and that some type of income tax package would be preferable.

Schermerhorn said he has participated in such a bill, and Hinchey stated he had introduced Schermerhorn's bill in the Assembly.

An explanation on the "formula"—Hinchey said if no changes were made, the current 41.2 percent state aid would fall back to 38 percent; he pointed out the level of state aid was up to 48 percent a few years ago.

Where the representatives differed markedly was on where the extra money is to come from. Hinchey called for a higher state income tax. "We need the courage to fund education properly at the state level," he stated, explaining that the state constitution calls for the state to provide education.

Schermerhorn said that the Republican Party "will not go for more taxes. . . I would say your picture is bleak," he added. "I would not plan on what you got last year." Schermerhorn and Betros claimed there was fat in Governor Carey's budget that should be trimmed and that funds were being used to build Carey a platform for political ambitions.

Hinchey argued that if the money does not come from state aid for education, then it must of necessity come from the local property tax, thereby forecasting increases "from 16 to 50 percent in some districts" in school taxes.

Schermerhorn pointed to the fact that almost 40 percent of the real estate in New York State is tax exempt as a major drawback for the real estate tax as a basis for funds for education.

The state pension system was roundly criticized, with Hinchey terming it a "disgrace" and Schermerhorn calling it "unconscionable." The state senator has withdrawn from the pension plan.

Icy Road Causes Accident

WEST CAMP

A young Malden-on-Hudson woman somehow escaped with only minor injuries early today when the car she was driving skidded on ice on Route 9W in West Camp, flipped end over end, ejecting the woman, and wound up on its roof with her underneath.

Police said it took Malden-West Camp fire fighters about 20 minutes to free Peggy Bennett, 24, from beneath the auto. Taken to Benedictine Hospital by Saugerties Ambulance, she was treated for a leg abrasion and released.

Saugerties Town Police charged the woman with driving while intoxicated. The mishap occurred at about 5:20 a.m., police said.

Hinchey Introduces Tax-Exempt Bill

ALBANY

Assemblyman Maurice Hinchey (D-101st Dist.) has introduced a bill that would put thousands of acres of now tax exempt land back on the tax rolls.

The bill is aimed at property now owned by religious and other tax exempt organizations that is not directly used for religious purposes.

"The bill recognizes the original intent of the law," said Hinchey Thursday. "Only land used exclusively for religious purposes should be tax exempt."

Remaining tax exempt, according to Hinchey's bill, would be churches, synagogues, rectories, convents, schools and other such properties. Going back on the tax rolls would be such property as that owned by presently tax-exempt organizations for no other purpose than the money it brings in.

Hinchey's bill, now before the Real Property Taxation Committee of the assembly, would allow local assessors to decide if property is being used exclusively for religious purposes.

"To a large measure," said Hinchey, "it puts the burden where it really belongs, on the local assessor."

Tax exempt property is a big problem in Ulster County, and throughout the Catskill Region.

As one Ulster County example, the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society, a Jehovah's Witness group, owns about 1,500 acres in the Town of Shawangunk that is now tax exempt. On the property the society operates such non-religious projects as a printing plant and various agricultural enterprises.

Hinchey said the tax burden caused by the exempt land "falls on the small homeowner, and it's not fair."

He said the real Property Taxation Committee, a new committee set up this year in the assembly, had "refined" his bill, and he expected it to be reported out favorably.

Wicks Vols Support McLean

KINGSTON

The 200 members of A. H. Wicks Engine and Truck Company came out today in support of volunteer R. Bruce McLean, who was suspended by the Kingston Fire Board earlier this week.

The board charged McLean with making allegations which were prejudicial to the fire department when he was critical of former Fire Chief Robert Maines, Mayor Francis R. Koenig and Robert Gollnick, former union leader.

The fire company charges that "not one of the allegations against McLean was proven by competent legal evidence."

"McLean was railroaded by an unconstitutional proceeding," the firemen contend.

Labeling the fire board's statement following a three-hour hearing Monday as "biased, grossly misleading and unfairly stated," the firemen said they want to make it clear that they back McLean all the way and deplore the tactics of the fire commissioners "in making a tasteless, if not unethical, press release about the proceedings that did not accurately state the facts or the law applicable to McLean's case."

The firemen state that "although the commissioner's press release was careful to point out that the mayor did not vote, it did not point out his (the mayor's) statements and admission on the record, admitting his very recent animosity for Capt. McLean. And, the fact that he acted as 'chief judge' in the proceedings and participated behind closed door during the commissioners' (his appointees) deliberations."

Young American Award Winner

Martin Hain, Saugerties High School senior was feted as this month's Young American at an awards dinner Thursday night at the Kirkland Hotel. Taking part in the festivities were George Dumbauld, manager of the local Montgomery Ward store, sponsor of the youth recognition program (L), the award winner and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Hain of 17 Lafayette Street, Saugerties and Len Cane, Ulster County Chamber of Commerce executive and chairman of the judges. Hain was selected for his outstanding scholastic and musical achievements. (Freeman photo)

'BUSWELL'

Great-Grandmother in Broadway Debut

NEW YORK (UPI) — Alma Hamilton is 88, a great-grandmother, an actress without formal training, a vocalist who never had a voice lesson, and is about to make her Broadway debut in a role in which she mostly screams.

Mrs. Hamilton, of Waco, Tex., also is so much a traveler that "they used to say my middle name was 'Goin' because I was always goin' somewhere."

She's visited by bus, train, plane or car every state in the union and most of Western Europe. She was one of the first of the jet set — flying a jet carrier to London in 1959 to visit her daughter and son-in-law. He was in the U.S. Air Force stationed there.

That Broadway debut is set for Saturday, March 22, at the ANTA theater in "A Letter for Queen Victoria."

The presentation is billed as a three-hour opera. It is written by Robert Wilson, an avant garde playwright-producer who is also one of Mrs. Hamilton's grandchildren.

She is one of a cast of 16 in the American premier of the work which had its first showing last summer at the Festival of Two Worlds in Spoleto, Italy.

Mrs. Hamilton is a symbolic Victoria, on stage most of the three hours although "about all I do is scream."

She illustrated on request at our office and it is more of a long wail, high and low, rather than a piercing shriek.

"I didn't think I had much of a scream," she recalled. "But in Copenhagen (in another of Wilson's works) I tried. I filled the auditorium. No, I've never had a voice lesson and if you want the truth I'm not even very good at carrying a tune."

Actually, she does some speaking and that is how her grandson prefers to do things. There is no stereotypical plot. The audience is supposed to be stirred into its own interpretation.

Mrs. Hamilton, a wee woman with snowy hair, elects to tell the audience in "A Letter..." her pill story.

It concerns the pills she takes each day, she explained. One is for vitamins, two for diabetes symptoms, and two for high blood pressure.

"But I'm never sick...except for cataract operations," she said. "I wouldn't know I had high blood pressure if my doctor hadn't said so. I break rules sometimes and eat something I'm not supposed to."

"But if I can't have a little bit of what I want at my age, what's the use of living."

The actress was born in Crystal Springs, Miss., but made Texas her home after her marriage to Cullen P. Hamilton, a railroad storekeeper. He died nearly 53 years ago, leaving her to rear four small children — two daughters and twin sons. She was to see all four graduate either from regular or business college.

Screams

Alma Hamilton shows what she does mostly in a play marking her Broadway debut. "About all I do is scream," says the great-grandmother. (UPI)

1975 Saratoga Fair Promises to Be Bigger Than Ever

Fairgoers have already begun to count off the weeks until the opening of the second annual Saratoga Fair at Saratoga Springs. According to Harry W. MacPherson, director of special events for the New York Racing Association, attendance at the 1975 Fair June 27 to July 6 at the historic Saratoga Race Course is expected to exceed the more than a quarter of a million fairgoers who attended last year's 10-day family-oriented event.

MacPherson was in Kingston Tuesday to speak at the luncheon meeting of Kingston Lions Club. As special events director, he announced this year's Saratoga Fair will bring a number of America's top entertainers to the area: Olivia Newton-John with Danny Davis and the Nashville Brass; Tony Orlando and Dawn; Detroit Pops with Lynn Anderson; Mac Davis; Red Skelton; Bob Hope; Tanya Tucker.

Based on last year's Fair, changes are planned to make the 1975 Saratoga event more enjoyable for the entire family. Something for everyone is promised. The midway will be enlarged and will include more rides. Different concessionaires will offer a variety of foods.

The rodeo arena is being enlarged. The Commerford Shea animal show will also be expanded with more animals than last year as well as a large petting zoo area for younger children.

New attractions include a high diving aquatic exhibition; "Mr. Rhythm," an internationally famous performing horse; "The Fastest Gun in the West," Paul La Cross, who will present daily shows featuring fast draw, knife and axe throwing; and continuous daily helicopter rides.

A New Orleans Day with a Mardi Gras atmosphere will feature Duke Ellington's band. Ellington's son Mercer will be host. A display of Ellington awards will be on exhibit for the first time, after which they will be sent to Yale for permanent housing.

A highlight will be the appearance of top personalities from the sports world who will sign autographs for youngsters, hold question-answer sessions, and conduct daily clinics.

Exhibitors will have an opportunity right on the spot to influence a captive audience — hundreds of thousands of potential buyers of products and services. Area persons are invited to participate and should contact the Exhibit Office at Saratoga Fair.

As director of special events, MacPherson has responsibility for arranging and booking all non-racing programs at Aqueduct, Belmont and Saratoga race tracks during periods when thoroughbreds are not in action, and is credited for much of the success of last year's Saratoga Fair.

Using racetrack facilities for other events such as dog shows, conventions, music concerts, flea markets, antique shows, and political rallies, has been a shot in the arm in raising capital for the racetrack as well as for the community. According to MacPherson, people attended last year's Fair, liked what they saw, and returned later to the racetrack. A new segment of population became interested and attendance during last year's racing season had never been higher. Although the Fair is the biggest non-racing project at the Saratoga track to date, a brand new Arts and Crafts Festival is being planned also this year.

Since the Fair will create numerous jobs for Saratoga area residents, the effects of the second annual event, with its celebrations, grandstand entertainment, midway, and cultural extravaganzas, should be felt not only at the fairgrounds but throughout the entire Saratoga community. And the economic impact of that fact alone is welcome news these days to the growing list of unemployed.

General admission tickets entitle patrons to all events, entertainment and attractions, with the exception of the midway operations, exhibitors sales, and food concession. Considering the current economic situation, the nominal entertainment fee represents an exceptional recreational value for the family and promises to be one of the biggest bargains of the year. Additional savings through advance ticket sales at discount prices is available at any Stewart Ice Cream store. Groups should contact the Fair office at Saratoga Springs regarding special charter bus rates.

Children's Theatre Production

The Kingston Branch of the American Association of University Women are sponsoring a children's theatre production entitled "Lunar Leap," a fact and fantasy moon adventure to be performed by the musical drama group, The Merry-Go-Rounders. Planning for the upcoming event are members of AAUW's fellowship committee (l-r), Mrs. Robert Corcoran, Mrs. Anthony Manley, Mrs. Jack Ferraro, Mrs. Lawrence Bruck. The music-dance-drama will take place Saturday, Apr. 19 at 2 p.m. at Kingston High School auditorium. Tickets are available from AAUW members, Card 'n Party, North and South, and Abrams Music Store. (Freeman photo)

Enthusiasm is the by-word at West Hurley Library Library Board meetings these days. As trustees await the spring, when ground breaking for a new West Hurley Library building is to take place, they do so not from a state of winter hibernation, but from a beehive of activity.

Board President Robert Barrette has announced plans for two fund-raisers for the month of April, with proceeds of both earmarked for the building fund. The first will be a Wine and Cheese Tasting Party, April 5, to be held at the West Hurley firehall from 8-10 p.m. Awards will be made and the public is invited to attend. Committee members include Mrs. Frank Soovajian of Woodstock and Mrs. Bruce Wilder of West Hurley, from whom tickets may be obtained. Music will be provided by Edwin "Papa Bear" Kirschner.

Later in the month, on April 26, friends of the library will present a Spring Craft Boutique. This event, to be held at the West Hurley firehall, will feature the hand work of many area residents. Anyone interested in donating materials or handcrafted items may contact Mrs. William Steuding of Woodstock.

Construction site of the new library facility is on Clover Street, West Hurley, between Cedar Street and Mosher Place. The Board approved construction plans early last year, when it became apparent that the existing facility was inadequate to meet the needs of the community.

Arranging Poster Display

Preparations are underway for a wine and cheese party to be held April 5 at West Hurley firehall from 8 to 10 p.m. Proceeds will benefit the West Hurley Library Building Program. Arranging posters are (l-r) Mrs. Walter Rose, chairman of decorations, and Mrs. Frank Soovajian, chairman. (Freeman photo)

Claude Monteux will conduct the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Orchestra in a special program in Kingston on Monday, Mar. 24 at 8 p.m. at Community Theatre. The performance is the Pierre Monteux Centennial, marking the 100th anniversary of the birth of the noted French conductor who died in 1964.

It is especially noteworthy that Claude Monteux, son of the late Pierre Monteux, should be able to present this concert to local audiences as one of his last regular appearances during his 16-year tenure with the HVP. Some of the music to be played, Stravinsky's "Firebird Suite" and "Symphony No. 2" of D'Indy, will preview part of the program to be presented by the Philharmonic next month at Carnegie Hall in New York. In addition, the Kingston concert will include Block's "Schelomo". Ronald Thomas is featured as cello soloist.

Single tickets to this concert will be available at the door before the concert on Monday evening. However, it is still possible to take advantage of the special subscription offer which provides tickets to this plus the remaining two Spring concerts by calling the HVP office during regular business hours.

Weekend Activities In and Around Ulster County

Choral Festival

Ulster County Music Educators Association will present an all-county Choral Festival on Saturday at 7:30 p.m. at the Ulster County Community College Senate Gym.

Participating in the festival will be a culmination of approximately 350 students from the Ellenville, Highland, Kingston, Marlboro, New Paltz, Rondout, Saugerties and Walkkill School districts.

Conducting the High School Chorus will be Dr. Gerald Mack, who is director of Choral Activities at the Hartt College of Music in West Hartford, Conn. The Middle School conductor will be Miss Rebecca Rhinesmith, assistant professor of Music education at Ithaca College in Ithaca. Barry Blust, music teacher in the Cornwall school district, Cornwall, will conduct the Elementary School Chorus.

Arthritis Telethon

Mrs. Lee Coppersmith of Greenfield Park, chairman of the Ulster County committee for the Arthritis Foundation's Stop Arthritis Telethon, urged her fellow residents to support what she labeled "this worthy effort" with their viewing and pledges.

According to Mrs. Cop-persmith the 18-hour show will be broadcast on WOR-TV Channel 9 from 11 p.m. Saturday through Sunday afternoon, Mar. 23, at 5 o'clock. "Some of the most famous stars of the stage, screen and television will be among the guests making appearances on the telecast," Mrs. Coppersmith said. Among those scheduled to appear on the telethon are Rosalind Russell and Jane Wyman as hosts, Tom Kennedy as emcee, Polly Bergen, Cab Calloway, Hildegard, Guy Lombardo, Gretchen Wyler, and many, many more.

Mrs. Coppersmith said that the show will include a special early Sunday morning program especially for the "younger generation" starring D.J.'s Cousin Bruce Morrow of WNBC, Dick Heatherton of WCBS-FM and Norm Knight, also of WCBS-FM.

Winter Concert

The U.S. Military Academy Band will present the fifth concert of its 1974-75 Winter Concert Series Sunday, Mar. 23, at 7:30 p.m. in Eisenhower Hall Auditorium, West Point.

Selections to be featured during the evening's performance will include UNIVERSAL JUDGMENT by Camille De Nardis, WARSAW CONCERTO for piano and band by Richard Adinsell, and DAYS OF GLORY by Meuser and Kepner. The concert is open to the public with no admission charge.

Art Show

Woodstock Artists Association, 28 Tinker Street, inaugurates its spring season with five invitation shows. The first show is slated for Saturday at 4 p.m. Each show will feature one sculptor and four painters.

Artists in the first show include: Janie Schecter, ceramic sculpture; Ron Hahne, paintings of high energy abstractions in large works; Christie Medved, Woodstock artist specializing in black and white work; A.O. Weidman, works in acrylics; Isaac Abrams, self-taught painter. Betty McDonald will add the artistry of her violin playing at the Saturday opening.

Country Music

Country music returns to orange County on Sunday, March 23, at the Goshen High School Auditorium.

Recording star Mel Tillis, regarded as one of the country's top nterainers, will appear with the Statesiders along with Tommy Overstreet and the Nashville Express.

The March 23 show is being sponsored by the Cataract Engine and Hose Company of Goshen.

Tillis is no stranger to TV viewers—having hosted the popular Mike Douglas CBS Channel 2 talk show. He also has appeared on the Dean Martin Show, the Jimmy Dean Show, the Tonight Show as well as several others.

Overstreet is a major Dot recording artist, his last seven records hitting the top 10 of all the charts.

Sunday's show will start at 8 p.m.

Tickets are available from the Country Cavalcade, Box 1, Florida, N.Y.

Beckett's EndGame

Samuel Beckett's EndGame will be presented Saturday, March 22 through Tuesday, March 25, at the Great Hall, Preston, at Bard College, Annandale-on-Hudson.

Evening performances will be at 8 o'clock. A Sunday matinee is scheduled for 3 p.m. on March 23.

EndGame, directed by Lawrence Sacharow, will star Frances Alcheik, Delilah Jakob, Sara Heckelman and David Schecter.

No admission will be charged but reservations are advised.

The performance is another in the series of dramatic offerings staged by the Bard Theater of Drama and Dance.

Passover Seder

Committee reports were given and several upcoming events were discussed at the recent meeting of Sisterhood Ahavath Israel of Kingston. Mrs. Marvin Millens, Sisterhood president, presided.

Traditional model Passover Seder conducted by the Hebrew and Religious students is planned for Sunday morning, Mar. 23. Parents and friends are invited to this annual event.

"To Stir With Love", Sisterhood's cookbook, features an entire chapter of traditional Passover recipes. Mrs. Sanford Gossett and Mrs. Martin Netburn are cookbook co-chairmen. Israeli Gift Shop is fully stocked with Passover gifts, religious articles, and books. Mrs. Max Salomon should be contacted for an appointment.

"Israel, My Love" is the program planned for the Tri-Sisterhood meeting on Wednesday evening, April 16. Ruth Chertoff, well known actress and comedienne, will be appearing at Ahavath Israel. April 16 is the Independence Day of the State of Israel.

Spring Rummage Sale under the co-chairmanship of Mrs. Max Eckdich and Mrs. Milton Friedman is planned for May 4-6.

Rug Art Session

NEWBURGH

The art of braiding rugs will be demonstrated by Mrs. Willa Skinner at the Lexington Manor Ethan Allen Gallery, Newburgh, Sunday, beginning at 1 p.m.

Mrs. Skinner will show visitors how to recycle discarded woolen clothing and other articles that can be fashioned into floor coverings, table mats and chair pads. One of her oval braided rugs is now being used at the Van Wyck Homestead Museum in Fishkill.

The demonstration continues the series of arts and crafts showings held on Sunday Afternoons at Lexington Manor for the benefit of visitors who are invited to drop in for leisurely browsing.

Installation Dinner Held

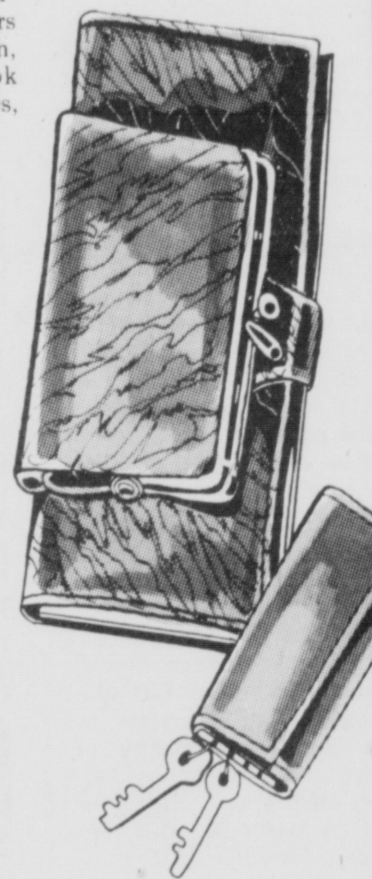

monthly at Stockade Restaurant. Persons interested in joining the group should contact Ellen Haynes of Kingston who is currently serving as an honorary member. (Freeman photo)

'Thanks a Lot' . . . That's Not Enough!

By Abigail Van Buren
1975 by Chicago Tribune
N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I can sympathize with anyone who is taken advantage of by people who don't drive and are always looking for rides. (I call them "schnorrers.")

Abby, I make sure my tank is not in need of filling when I have company with me because I don't want them to think that if I pull into a filling station it is a hint for them to buy some gas.

Wouldn't you think that after years of chauffeuring people around one would give me a small gift, or buy me a lunch? Never! And I never see any of these people unless I am taking them someplace.

I have decided against joining a certain organization because I would be a taxi for everyone going my way.

My car is a convenience, but it's also an expense. My husband is the provider. I'm not employed.

Please print this, so people who are always "schnorrin'" rides will realize that some little expression of gratitude besides "thanks a lot" and then slamming the car door would be appreciated.

HAD IT WITH SCHNORRERS

DEAR HAD IT: Here's your letter and I hope it helps. I think you're foolish for denying yourself the pleasure of joining a club for the reason you mentioned. Join, but don't allow yourself to be used.

DEAR ABBY: Is there some way I can break my German shepherds of killing chickens?

They have done it only once, but I have heard that once they do it, they will not stop.

Someone suggested that I tie the dead chickens around the dogs' necks until the chickens rot and it will cure them of killing chickens.

It sounds cruel, and I don't think I'd have the stomach to do it. Can you, or some of your readers, suggest another cure?

DOG LOVER

DEAR DOG LOVER: Because dogs kill only when they are in pairs or packs, let only one dog run at a time. Hanging the dead chicken around the dog's neck won't work as a rule. You could punish the dogs by hitting them a hard whack to let them know they've done wrong, but the best "cure" is to keep the dogs away from the chickens. And the chickens away from the dogs.

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago, our mother, a widow, then 60, married an attractive 73-year-old man I'll call John. My brother and I (both married) were happy that Mom found someone with whom to share her life. We never cared much for John, but that's another story.

Mom seemed happy. Suddenly, five months ago she died of a heart attack, and John came out smelling like a rose.

We know for a fact that two weeks after Mom's funeral John started calling up young girls and asking for dates. Last weekend, he took a 25-year-old girl to La Costa, where several of our friends saw him. How's that for poor taste?

John was not exactly poor when Mom married him, but now he's rolling in money and making such a fool of himself. You wouldn't believe the talk in this town. I am sure if Mom had known he would carry on in such a scandalous way, she wouldn't have left him anything. He even got the lovely home Mom and Dad built and furnished.

Is there any way my brother and I can get the home? Our lawyer said it belongs to John for as long as he lives, after which my brother and I will share in the ownership.

Please ask your legal consultants if perhaps there is a loophole our lawyer overlooked. Thank you.

J AND S

DEAR J AND S: My legal consultants have advised me against practicing law. And they further suggest that if you lack confidence in your lawyer, you should consult another lawyer for his (or her) opinion.

Second Suicide

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (UPI) — A teen-ager was found strangled today in his cell at the Dutchess County jail, the second such death at the facility in 24 hours.

A guard found the body of Gary A. Davis, 19, of Poughkeepsie. Authorities said Davis, alone in the cell, had used a towel to strangle himself.

Davis had been arrested Wednesday on a third degree burglary charge. The medical examiner's office listed his death as apparent suicide.

On Thursday, Russell Fleck, 22, also of Poughkeepsie, serving time for burglary and grand larceny, was found in a sitting position in his cell, where he apparently had used a bedsheet to strangle himself, police said. They said he also was alone in his cell, and the medical examiner's office ruled his death an apparent suicide.

Damages Awarded

MONTICELLO (UPI) — The parents of a 5-year-old boy who was killed last April when struck by a school bus have been awarded more than $600,000 in damages by a Sullivan County jury.

After 30 minutes of deliberations Thursday, the six-member jury said the Monticello School District and Eileen VanFriedburg, the driver, were guilty of "total negligence" in the death of Keith Rivera.

The jury awarded $600,000 to the parents, plus the cost of the funeral and burial, an additional $2,345.

Banquet

MORGAN HILL — The "50" Club will hold its 28th Annual Banquet Saturday at 7 p.m. at Oehler's Mountain Lodge. Guest speakers will be Mrs. Charlotte Peck and Mrs. Martin Oberkirch, officials of the Children's Rehabilitation Center in Kingston. Music will be by the "Blue Velvets."

Wrong Size

The correct size for ver-saboard (particle board) sheets being sold for $4.25 each at Miron Home Center, Route 9W North, Kingston, is four feet by seven feet by 1/2 inches. The size of the $4.25 sheets was incorrectly listed in a Thursday advertisement. Other sizes in the advertisement were correct.

Hearing Date Is Changed

TOWN OF ROCHESTER — Town of Rochester public hearing on the proposed Lake Minnewaska development plans has been rescheduled from Monday, March 24 to Monday, April 21.

The change was requested by Kenneth Phillips, Minnewaska owner, because the project planners will be out of the country for three weeks.

The location has been changed from the town hall to the Rondout Valley High School auditorium, Kysenike, due to the large attendance anticipated.

NOTICE OF PROPOSED CHANGES IN TELEPHONE RATE SCHEDULES

Notice is hereby given that the following proposed telephone rate schedules have been filed with the Public Service Commission to be effective April 14, 1975.

Monthly Rate	Installation Charge
Recorder-coupler equipment
Automatic voice connecting arrangement for the connection of unattended subscriber-provided terminal equipment arranged for call termination only
Per line equipped, where ability to reverse direction of transmission under control of calling party is required (GTS)	$3.10 $30.00

The above rates and charges are in addition to all other applicable rates and charges.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
There will be some minor disruptions on the home front, but not enough to disturb what could be a pleasant day. Just keep cool.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You'll get some good news. It will have a direct effect upon a decision you must make. It will cause you to revise your plans.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Something you've hoped for of a material nature will be realized, though for a time you'll have serious doubts about receiving it.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) It's not likely your light will be hidden under a bushel today. You'll be the center of attention in any group.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) A condition that kept you hemmed-in the last couple days will now be alleviated. You'll be able to act more independently.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You will be quietly rewarded for something you've done for another confidentially. Others will be unaware of either action.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) One you're fond of but doubted in the past will prove his friendship through his actions in your behalf today.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You will have a sense of accomplishment for completing a task that has been difficult. Others will also recognize your achievement.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Your optimistic attitude and far-seeing outlook will make you a desirable companion for those you associate with today.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) This is a good day to shop for needed household items. Try some out-of-the-way places for unusual bargains.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You treat others in a very fair and just manner today. They will remember this for a long time.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Conditions affecting your material outlook are considerably brighter now. Look for solutions to long-standing financial problems.

March 22, 1975

Greater benefits in your work or career will come your way this year. If you manage your money wisely, you can accumulate a sizeable nest egg by year's end.

Win At Bridge

Correct Play Is 1000-1 Shot

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Here is a good hand with which to test your friends' ability to defend. However, don't laugh at those who fail the test. We doubt if one bridge player in a thousand will make the winning play.

South wins the first club, leads the nine of diamonds and lets it ride after West plays low. If East also plays low, he is a bridge genius among bridge geni. If he goes up with the queen, he is just an ordinary player. Yet some real study will show that the play of the queen can't succeed in defeating the contract.

East should know that his partner holds the ace of diamonds because there would be no reason for South to lead any card but the ace if he held it.

How many diamonds does South hold? Probably exactly two. He has bid two suits and notrump. He surely has 11 cards outside of diamonds. So if East plays low, South will lead a second diamond, play dummy's jack and watch the hand collapse since South will never be able to bring in the diamond suit.

Russian Tug In Hawaiian Waters

All alone and unannounced a Russian Navy tug, the MB911 is shown in photo taken by a U.S. Navy reconnaissance plane about 35 miles west, southwest of Oahu. Navy officials said they had no idea what the tug was doing in Hawaiian waters. (UPI)

Why the CIA Held Services For Dead Russian Crewmen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Early in its planning to raise a Soviet submarine from the ocean floor, the Central Intelligence Agency decided it must show full respect for the dead seamen who might be recovered.

It hoped this would minimize the Soviet Union's reaction if the salvage operation ever became known.

"You never plan a secret operation without a cover story, and a damage-limitation effort," said Ray Cline, a former CIA deputy director for intelligence, who was in on the planning several years ago.

"I remember speaking out about the importance of being fully respectful of the dead," Cline said in an interview.

In recovering a part of the Soviet G class submarine from the Pacific Ocean bottom last summer, the CIA found the bodies of about 10 seamen, Cline said, and buried them at sea according to regulations in the Soviet naval manual. The ceremony was recorded on film.

"I'm sure we would be glad to turn over this material," Cline said, "if the Russians request it."

State Department officials said they were unaware of any Soviet government requests.

High U.S. government officials are known to be concerned that the CIA operation might undermine the projected summit conference this summer between President Ford and Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev.

"In my judgment, it really depends on how we play it," Cline continued, "and there are two important considerations:

"If the operation is treated in a noisy, and insulting way to the Soviets, they might be forced to make an issue out of it. They might also choose to make an issue out of it to further embarrass the CIA.

"But my guess is that the Soviets recognize that this kind of operation is normal for a great power. And they are likely to give it low-key treatment, particularly because they are envious of our capability."

In May 1960, another summit conference planned by the United States, Soviet Union, France and Britain was aborted when Russia shot down the American U-2 over its territory and President Eisenhower refused to apologize.

On the other hand, the summit conference in Moscow in May 1972 went ahead as scheduled despite the decision by President Nixon to mine the North Vietnamese harbor of Haiphong which was the point of entry of heavy Soviet military equipment for Hanoi.

Cline said the CIA examined admiralty law to determine whether any generally recognized maritime regulations would be violated by the salvage operation.

He recalled that the admiralty law seemed ambiguous. Usually an abandoned ship on the high seas is deemed to be the property of whoever salvages it. But a warship is deemed to be the property of a government, and others are expected to render assistance in circumstances of distress.

In a related development, Sen. John C. Stennis, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, praised the CIA for undertaking the operation.

In a statement Thursday on the Senate floor, he said: "I knew about, gave surveillance, and fully supported this project from the beginning. It was a highly valuable undertaking, and of the highest interest. It invaded no one's rights."

Meanwhile, the Washington Post today quoted sources as saying the Central Intelligence Agency recovered nuclear warheads from torpedoes aboard the sunken Soviet submarine it raised from the Pacific Ocean.

It reported the sources said the two torpedo warheads were taken from the one-third of the ship raised last summer by the Glomar Explorer, a special salvage ship built for the CIA by the Howard Hughes organization.

Getting the warheads was a major intelligence victory for the CIA, the Post said, because it verified that Soviet subs carried nuclear torpedoes and, according to one source, gave the U.S. intelligence community "a priceless insight into their technology."

Kissinger Talks . . . Progress, No Pact

TEL AVIV (UPI) — A senior official on Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's plane today said the negotiations between Egypt and Israel are at a point where one decision by either side could solve the main issue of how far Israel will withdraw in the Sinai Desert.

Kissinger flew back to Israel from Egypt today, saying there was progress in the talks but still no basic agreement on the extent of an Israeli troop withdrawal.

Kissinger said he expected to know within the next 72 hours whether his shuttle diplomacy mission had succeeded.

He flew back here from a quick overnight trip to Egypt with a reply from Egyptian President Anwar Sadat to new Israeli proposals hammered out in cabinet meetings lasting 14 hours.

From the airport, Kissinger drove to Jerusalem to talk with Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin and his advisers.

If the Israeli leaders can give him an answer for Sadat without calling a cabinet meeting, Kissinger expected to fly back to Egypt Saturday, the Jewish sabbath. If a cabinet meeting is required, his return was expected Sunday.

The negotiations were at the point where both sides have presented written statements and lines are being drawn on maps, the senior official said.

Other American officials cautioned that the two countries were not yet on the brink of final agreement.

The senior official said there were conceptual gaps between the two countries over whether Israel will withdraw from the Mitla and Gidi mountain passes and the Abu Rodeis oil fields and what assurances Egypt would give in return.

He said Egypt was unwilling to give a pledge of non-belligerence in exchange for an agreement, and Israel appeared still unwilling to withdraw all the way in exchange for lesser assurances not to use force.

But there was progress on other points, he said, citing agreements that Israeli withdrawal would be in stages over a period of months and that U.N. forces probably would occupy the major part of the territory given up.

The senior official said Sadat clearly would not accept a pledge of non-belligerence involving a legal commitment to give up such measures as the Arab boycott against Israel and all other hostile acts.

'Deal With Portugal', Buckley Urges Henry

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. James L. Buckley, R-N.Y., today urged Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger to break off his Middle East diplomacy and return to Washington to deal with the situation in Portugal.

Buckley called it "the most profound crisis since the end of World War II" because Portuguese Communists are trying to assume control of the government.

In a statement to be released at a news conference with Sens. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., and Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., Buckley said the Soviet Union is sending the Portuguese Communists $10 million a month.

He predicted that if communists come to power, the Soviet Navy would acquire base rights in Portugal which will make the position of the U.S. 6th fleet "untenable" in the Mediterranean Sea.

"I believe that the place for our Secretary of State — and foreign adviser to our President — in this situation is at the command center," he said.

"I urge Secretary Kissinger to delegate his shuttle service to one of his able and qualified associates, and to return here for urgent consultations and decisions."

Meanwhile Portugal's powerful Communists are trying to exclude the country's only remaining middle-of-the-road party from any role in the government.

The Communists, strengthened by last week's abortive rightist coup, called on Prime Minister Vasco Goncalves Thursday to keep the Popular Democratic party out of his new coalition cabinet.

"The Communist party has reservations about the participation of the Popular Democratic party, whose policies have not been to attack the reactionaries but to combat the popular and democratic forces," a statement said.

Goncalves has met for five days with the major parties to discuss a new cabinet reflecting Portugal's move to the left, but sources said it would be several days before a new government is announced.

In its swing to the left, the council has nationalized banks and insurance companies and arrested more than 100 businessmen and military officers.

Portugal's Popular Democrat party, the only non-leftist party not banned from next month's election, has shared power in the military-dominated cabinet with Socialists and Communists.

Exclusion of the Popular Democrats would leave leftists in complete control of the year-old government that replaced a half-century of rightist rule.

The armed forces, which ended a half-century of rightist dictatorship last spring, has outlawed all but two non-Communist political parties — the Socialists and the Popular Democrats.

Bradley Improved

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Gen. Omar N. Bradley has shown a "decided and encouraging improvement" in his recovery from a stroke, but doctors at UCLA Medical Center said the five star general was still in serious condition.

The 82-year-old Bradley was described in "very serious" condition when he entered the hospital Monday, but Thursday the medical report was more encouraging, with Bradley reported to be "conscious and resting comfortably."

"General of the Army Omar N. Bradley has shown decided and encouraging improvement," a hospital spokesman said. "UCLA officials term the general's condition as serious but he is conscious and resting comfortably."

Bradley, often called the "GI's General," suffered the stroke in the right portion of his brain, doctors said, but was not paralyzed.
